RIOTS CONTINUE

In Nearly Every Large City in Italy.

Encounters Between the Soldiers and Rioters—Strong Feeling Against Baratieri.

ROME, March 6.—The rioting caused by the anger of the people at the conduct of the Abyssinian campaign, brought to a climax by the complete defeat of the Italian army, under General Baratieri, was continued last night in nearly every large city of Italy, although a rain storm cleared the streets of the capital.

At Milan, a large crowd marched through the principal streets, smashing windows right and left, yelling execration at Crispi and his minis and calling for the trial and prompt execution of General Baratieri. The rioters made their way to the railroad station with the intention of preventing the departure from Milan of the army reserve of that city and neighborhood belonging to the class of 1872, but, anticipating trouble, the authorities kept the men in the barracks and sent a regiment of infantry to guard the railroad station. These precautions only served to increase the sentiment of the mob leaders, and an attempt was made to break into the depot.

A number of sharp encounters between the rioters and soldiers and police followed. The soldiers and carabinieri were pelted with stone and the points of bayonets and swords were used to drive back the crowds. A number of soldiers and policemen were injured, and scores of rioters were slightly wounded. The disturbances continued until 2 o'clock in the morning, at which time the trooops, at the point of the bayonet, had cleared the railroad station and its neighborhood of rioters and established a cordon of soldiers about it, while guarding with strong pickets all the approaches. The troops remained on duty all night.

There is today a marked improvement in the demeanor of the populace. A proclamation by the mayor enjoined the inhabitants of Rome to be calm and avoid assemblages, which would tend to develop riotous demonstrations. Business is proceeding as usual, and the only evidence here of the recent disturbances are the strong additional guards of soldiers on duty about the palace and all public buildings.

There was serious rioting at Parma last night. The municipal buildings were beseiged by angry mobs, windows were smashed, there were a number of lively fights between the police and the populace and the troops were compelled to fire a volley over the heads of the most riotous of the mobs. This dampened the anger of the rioters, who scattered in all directions, pursued by the carabinieri, who succeeded in arresting several of the leaders of the disturbances. They will be kept prisoners until the popular excitement subsides.

There were a number of meetings last night of the different factions of the opposition, but nothing definite was decided upon, although a group of members of the right party passed a resolution demanding the complete abandonment of Erythea, as its retention would only involve a waste of money and men.

The Marquis Di Rudini is now looked upon as likely to yield to the representations of his friends and consent to undertake the formation of a new cabinet with General Ricotti as minister of war. The latter has already held that portfolio three times, first in 1870, again in 1873 and lastly in 1877.

The work of dispatching reinforcements to Massowah is being pushed with phraiseworthy vigor. On board the chartered transports gangs of men relieve each other so that the fitting out of these vessels is continued day and night. The army reserve men of the class 1872 just called to the colors, will, so soon as equipped, relieve regiments now doing garrison duty and the soldiers thus rendered available for active service will be shipped to Africa as rapidly as possible, the incoming ministry makes a complete change in the colonial policy of the country as advocated by many prominent men, and it is determined to make peace at any price with the Abyssinians.

The students of Pisa invaded the railroad stations here last evening, as a result of a report having been circulated that the artillery of the garrison of that place was to be transferred to Naples for shipment to Africa. They marched in procession to the depot shouting, "down with Crispi," "get us back our soldiers," "death to Baratieri," etc. The local authorities, however proved equal to the occasion. A strong force of police were sent to the station and the students were dispersed after burning all the copies obtainable of the government newspaper organs and smashing a few windows.

Among the military men there is a strong sentiment in favor of pushing the campaign in Africa to the utmost, even if it is necessary to call out all the army reserve and send 50,000 additional troops to Abyssinia. But the sober minded representatives of the business community advocate a policy of peace, even if it is necessary for Italy's pride to suffer in order to obtain these ends. The masses, as a rule, are opposed to any further sacrifice of the lives of Italian soldiers and they are in sympathy with those who favor a complete change in the colonial policy of Italy.

In the meanwhile the financial situation is alarming all those who contemplate it and this, it is hoped, may have the effect of bringing about the adoption of a policy of conciliation and economy.

BASE BALL TALK.

The Inter-State League is Doing Well, Thank You.

Arrangements for the Season are Progressing Rapidly and All the Clubs Are Getting in Shape.

A Wheeling special to the Sporting News says:

"It now appears certain that the Inter-State Base Ball league is to be a "go." For the past two weeks matters have been rather uncertain on account of the difficulty in securing grounds here in Wheeling. The magnates in the other cities said in the event of Wheeling flickering, they would abandon all efforts to organize a league. The reasons for this determination were that Wheeling is the best city in the circuit and no other town in this end of the circuit could be secured to take the Nail City's place. President McKee, of the local club, was down from Pittsburg on Monday and although he did not close a deal for grounds, it is pretty sure that grounds will be secured and consequently the league made a certainty. Five sites are now being considered and one will be selected before the close of the week.

"Reports from all the cities of the league are encouraging. Up at Youngstown the club is backed by the street railway company. Charles Hazen, of Akron, has been engaged as manager and has already signed six players. So once again, after many years, the home of Jimmy McAleer will have a professional team.

"New Castle, Pa., looked doubtful for a time, but the enthusiasts there got together a day or two ago and raised all the funds necessary to start the team on a good basis. 'Billy' Thompson, who managed their team last season, will probably occupy the same position this season.

"Washington, Pa., the baby town of the league, is backed by Byron D. J. McKeown, a millionaire oil magnate. Though the town is small it is thoroughly imbued with the athletic spirit. Even should the club prove a financial loss to its owner he will not object strenuously. Manager Curran, of Washington, has signed nine men and has others on his list.

"Fort Wayne people say that in the improbable event of the Inter-State organization flickering, they will head a movement to organize a league made up of Indiana and western Ohio towns.

"The league as it stands is composed of Wheeling, Washington, New Castle and Youngstown in the east; Toledo, Fort Wayne and Akron in the west. The eighth franchise will be located in Findlay, Lima, Springfield or Dayton, any one of which towns would support a club in good style. President Power is now trying to get the eighth club matter settled."

The Gospel meetings in Bethany continue to grow in influence. Fifteen or twenty arose last night when the invitation was given by Rev. Caldwell at the close of his able sermon. The last service of the series will be tonight.

Whether the big sleeves will entirely go out as the season advances is a moot question. At present some of the newest dresses have close fitting sleeves, enlarged on shoulders by upper ones plaited or frilled, while for evening quite small sleeves are made of flowers, but probably we shall learn to accustom ourselves to the diminished size by means of slashings, which in the evening will be of thin material, in the daytime, of contrasting fabric and color. The tulle slashings, imprisoning flowers, is a pretty idea, and there seems an inclination to use satin, worked with jewels, for full dress in the daytime.

CUBAN AFFAIRS.

The Spanish Minister at Washington a Busy Man.

MADRID, March 6.—As a result of the publication in Eldia that the Spanish minister at Washington had notified the government that President Cleveland would veto any Cuban resolution, a statement was made today from an authoritative source as to the extent of the information received from the minister at Washington. It shows that he has kept the government fully advised of all actual developments, but has not anticipated action in any branch. Up to the present time the minister has not informed the government that the president will veto the Cuban resolutions, nor is he informed, so far as the government knows, what the future course of the executive authorities at Washington will be. At the same time the ministry has access to the dispatches received by the news agencies at Paris, London and Madrid and some of these recent dispatches, which have been widely published throughout Europe as indicating the probable course of the administrative authorities at Washington, have borne the stamp of authenticity and are accepted as semi-official and authoritative.

They have been regarded by officials, as well as the general public, as correctly forecasting the probable course of the Washington authorities To these the Spanish minister at Washington has not added his official advice, nor has he stated that he has any assurances as to the future of the Cuban resolutions. Official advices from Havana show that Maceo has made a bold march to the north with a view to meeting Calix Garcia, who was expected to arrive with arms and ammunitions. After learning that the Garcia expedition was a failure, Maceo was unable to move eastward or to reach the southern everglades, and was compelled to move west into Havana province. It is believed that his purpose was in part a feint to prevent the reinforcements arriving at Havana from carrying out their projected movements. No uneasiness is felt at the presence of Maceo in Havana province. He has failed to effect a juncture with Gomez and is 100 miles north from him.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The president said to a representative of the Associated Press this morning: "I see that it is assumed in certain quarters that a deliverance published a few days ago on the Cuban question may be taken as defining the attitude of the administration on that subject. I wish you would say that I never saw the statement nor heard of it until I read it in the newspapers, and even then neglected to read all of it, supposing it represented nothing more than newspaper gush. I do not know how it originated, nor by whom it was constructed or inspired, but I do know that I am in no manner responsible for it, nor in any way related to it. I only desire to say in addition that I do not know whether the publication referred to represents the views of the administration on the Cuban question or not and that I have never found any difficulty in communicating with the people in a manner which leaves no doubt as to the authenticity of any statement purporting to represent my views."

ELOPERS DISCOVERED.

Romance in Real Life Revealed by an Arrest.

GREENSBURG, Ind., March 6.—James Goodwin, a farmer of Osgood, twenty miles south of here, was arrested on a telegram from the sheriff of Cheyenne county, Kansas, charging him with embezzlement and with eloping with another man's wife, and that his alleged wife was a Mrs. John Muir, and Miss Myrtle, the sixteen year old girl, was her daughter. Goodwin denied the charge, but the frightened woman gave the whole story away. Her father, Thomas Norton, a wealthy ranchman in Kansas, broke off her engagement to Goodwin, a cowboy, and made her marry Muir. Goodwin went west, married, struck it rich in the mines and came back. They both applied for a divorce, but were refused. He then eloped with her and her daughter, coming here about a year ago, where they have resided ever since as man and wife, although they were never married.

THE PROPOSED SHIP CANAL.

The Views of Mr. Dinwiddie As to Its Route.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—About three-fourths of the population of northwestern Indiana is thoroughly aroused over the bill introduced by Congressman Hatch to secure a survey for a canal from Lake Michigan to the Wabash river, judging from the large number of letters on the subject received by members of the Indiana delegation in congress. The latest communication is from O. Dinwiddle, of Orchard Grove, representative in the state legislature from Lake county, which says:

"According to Professor Campbell's survey of the Kankakee valley, made a few years ago, the elevation at Shelby, in the south end of Lake county, is much lower than at any point east of here or near the Kankakee river, and near Leroy, on the Panhandle railroad, the watershed or divide is merely nominal, where it separates the water running north through Deep river to the lake, from Eagle creek running south, into the Kankakee river. If you should have anything to do with the route to be surveyed, please look into the route beginning near the old mouth of the Calumet river, thence running nearly due south through the valley of Eagle creek to Kankakee river. Thence a direct line might be made to Attica. I think less cutting will be needed by this route than by any one further east." Congressman Hatch will lay this letter before the committee on railways and canals.

Rice House Failed.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Dr. Talmage's sons, one of the largest houses in the rice trade, has made an assignment to J. Gile, with preferences of $14,458. The creditors of the concern number about seventy. The assignment is understood to be largely due to the low price of rice, which has been brought about by the keen competition in trade. The founder of the firm died twenty years ago.

Appointed Judge.

PHILADELPHIA, March 6.—Governor Hastings has appointed Charles B. McMichael judge of the court of common pleas No. 3, in this city, to succeed Judge Henry Reed. The new judge is the youngest son of the late Morton McMichael, once mayor of Philadelphia, and a brother of Col. Clayton McMichael, publisher of the Philadelphia North American.

Will Defend Apportionment of 1885.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 6.—At a conference here between the sub-committee of the democratic state central committee and leading democratic attorneys, it was decided that the democrats should petition the supreme court to be made parties to the republican suit against the apportionment act of 1885. It was also decided that no attempt shou'd be made to delay the case unless it should appear that a decision could not be rendered in time to issue election writs under it. The rights of the hold-over senators to seats in the legislature will be combatted in the event.

GEAR IS ACQUITTED.

First of the Alleged Bribery Trials in Ohio is Concluded.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 6.—The jury last evening returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of Senator William Gear, of Upper Sandusky, charged with soliciting a bribe from ex-Senator Chas Flummerfelt, in the Flummerfelt-Spooner contest, in 1894. This is the first of the alleged bribery trials. The other indictment against Mr. Gear will not be tried until after the cases against ex-Senators Geyer, Iden and Ohl have been disposed of.

Fire at New York.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Fully $300,000 loss was caused by fire which broke out early today in the Garvin building Laight street, York street and St. John's place. The fire was confined to the structure in which it originated, and upon which the loss is $75,000. The Garvin Machine company which manufactured bicycles, type writers and other machines, lose $175,000 and Bernard Ullman, manufacturer of embroidery, suffers to the extent of $50,000 The Garvin Machine company is fully insured.

DR. CONE RESIGNS.

Says Buchtel College is Under Too Much Sectarian Control.

AKRON, Ohio, March 6.—Dr. O. Cone resigned today as president of Buchtel college, giving as his reason that there was too much sectarian control of the institution, contrary to the desires of the founder.

NOT ARRESTED YET.

How Constable John Wise Eluded the Officers.

Divorce Case Dismissed—The News as Found in the City Courts.

The warrant for the arrest of John Wise, the ex-constable, for the embezzlement of $63 95, mention of the issue of which was made in last evening's SENTINEL, was sworn out yesterday morning at 10 o'clock and placed in the hands of the officers. Wise was in the city at that time and did not leave until 1:16 in the afternoon, which he did on the Wabash train east, leaving at that time. Six officers were on the lookout for him, and most of them were at the depot at the time the train pulled out, and yet the wily constable eluded all of them and escaped. It is said that he boarded the train at the Hanna street crossing and in this way escaped arrest. John is a slick one and it is not probable that he will be arrested nor will he return to this city.

Wise secured his mileage for his trip to Toledo from Attorney Stump in order to make some collections for the lawyer at that place and he was also given money to pay his expenses. Attorney Stump knew nothing about the charges of embezzlement.

NINE WIVES IN NINE YEARS.

Remarkable Record of H. C. Wilmoth, Who Pleads Guilty in Kansas.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 6.—H. C. Wilmoth, going under various aliases, and who was recently arrested at Terre Haute, Ind., and taken to Kansas City, Kas., charged with bigamy, pleaded guilty. The trial developed the remarkable fact that Wilmoth had in the last nine years married nine different women, all of whom are said to be living, and that in each case he deserted them after securing their money. They live in Chicago, Duluth, St. Paul, Cincinnati and other points. Mrs. Wilmoth No. 1, formerly Miss Ora Wilkins, of Seneca, Kas., and Mrs. Wilmoth No. 2, a former Effingham, Ill., woman, appeared to prosecute the prisoner. Wilmoth had but recently been liberated from the state penitentiary after serving a five year sentence for defrauding Mrs. R. Ellison, a Kansas City woman, to whom he was married in 1890. Sentence has not been pronounced.

THIRTY THOUSAND DOLLARS.

A Fruit Grower Is Well Repaid for His Fidelity.

OHIO FALLS, Ind., March 6.—When Peter Piers, a prominent fruit grower of this county, courted the lady who is now his wife, several years ago, in this city, his brother-in-law, Robert Duncan, objected for unknown reasons, and, in insane rage, shot Piers in the head while he was calling on his fiance. Piers lost an eye, and lay long between life and death, but finally recovered, married Miss Dollie Bennett, the lady in question, and moved to his farm Duncan had to pay $1,500 damages and serve two years in prison for his shooting. He was a well known master mechanic of the Ohio and Mississippi at the time. Yesterday the news came that Mrs. Piers' father had died in Wisconsin, leaving her a fortune of $30,000.

Senator Voorhees' Illness.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Senator Voorhees has not been in the senate chamber since his first attack of sickness several weeks ago. He is confined to his room, but is able to see callers and enjoys meeting his friends. The most serious symptom is the threatened heart failure, from which he has been a sufferer for several years. He suffers considerable discomfort from muscular rheumatism.

REV. JOHN P. LLOYD.

Death of This Venerable Divine Yesterday Afternoon.

The death of Rev. John P. Lloyd, brief mention of which was made in THE SENTINEL yesterday afternoon, has caused universal sorrow throughout the city.

Rev. Lloyd died from neuralgia of the stomach and liver. He was sick only about ten days. During his illness he suffered much from exhaustion. He was conscious to the time of his death and during the last two hours folded his hands and engaged in earnest prayer, his last words being, "Nothing in my hands I bring, simply to—" and before he could finish the sentence his spirit had flown.

Rev. Lloyd was one of the most widely known ministers of the Presbyterian church in this section. He was born in Chillicothe, Ohio, March 22, 1814. In 1839 he was licensed to preach and from that time to 1881 he was actively engaged in the ministerial work. During those years he was located at various places in Ohio, where his work was of the most zealous and earnest kind. No man ever had greater faith in the Word which he was preaching and no man was more in earnest. Rev. Lloyd spent most of the years of his youth and manhood in the central part of Ohio, where he had charges and where he became widely known and popular because of his excellent character.

One of the most important works of Rev. Lloyd was done at Galion and Crestline. These towns are four miles apart. In both places Rev. Lloyd built up Presbyterian churches and for a number of years had charge of the congregations in the two towns. Later he was stationed at Crestline for about twenty years.

When a young man Rev. Lloyd was married to Miss Reed, daughter of the late Rev. John Reed, Indiana, Pa., who was his faithful companion through all the remaining years of his life and who survives him.

In 1881 Rev. Lloyd was compelled, on account of his failing health, to give up active ministerial work. The infirmities of advanced age were telling on him. Upon his retirement he came to Fort Wayne, where he spent the remainder of his days. During his residence here he has not been entirely out of the work for the Master, but on numerous occasions he has occupied the pulpit in the various Presbyterian churches in this city and in churches throughout this presbytery. He was a profound theologian, a great scholar and an able speaker. This ability coupled with his deep earnestness in the gospel work made him one of the best known ministers in northern Indiana.

For some time past Rev. Lloyd was confined to his home and it was known that his illness could not but terminate fatally. His death occurred yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at his home on East Berry street. In his last moments he was surrounded by his family and his death was peaceful, in keeping with the pure, good and peaceful life which was ebbing away.

In the death of Rev. Lloyd, the city loses a citizen like whom there are not many, the church loses one of its shining lights and a pure soul goes to its reward.

The honorary pall bearers have been selected as follows and are elders of the churches: O P. Morgan, J. W. Cromwell, Frederick Antrup, O. B. Fitch, F. M. Smaltz.

The funeral services will take place Monday morning, at 10 o'clock, from the house, No. 141 East Berry street. On Sunday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, there will be a union memorial service held in the First Presbyterian church. Addresses will be made by Dr. Moffat, Rev. Leeper, Dr. Boggs, Rev. Davies and Rev. Zartman. Singing by the different church choirs. This is to be a union meeting and all of the friends of Dr. Lloyd and family are invited.

DR. C. B. STEMEN

May be Lay Delegate to the M. E. General Conference.

The north Indiana M. E. conference, which meets at Richmond this month, will select a lay delegate to the general conference of the church, which meets in May at Cleveland, and among the candidates for the honor is Dr. C. B. Stemen, of this city. Dr. Stemen is a member of the Berry street congregation.

HEART FAILURE

Caused the Death of Mrs. John Houlihan, Sr.

The End Came at 3 O'clock This Morning—The Day's Record of Deaths and Funerals.

At 8 o'clock this morning occurred the death of Mrs Mary Houlihan, wife of John Houlihan, sr., at the family residence, No. 93 West Williams street. Death was due to heart failure. The deceased was born in Gaffney, county Kerry, Ireland, and was sixty-six years of age. She came to the United States and settled in Chicopee, Mass., and lived there until 1864 when, with her husband and family she came to Fort Wayne. She was a resident of this city for thirty-two years She leaves a husband and six children, Michael J., John, jr., Johanna, Thomas, James and Bridget. Two brothers are living in Massachusetts. The funeral will be held at St. Patrick's church at 1:30 Sunday afternoon, leaving the house a half hour earlier.

FUNERALS.

The funeral of the late Owen McGuire was held at the Cathedral this morning. It was very largely attended, Mr. McGuire having been one of the highly respected citizens of Fort Wayne.

The funeral of Harry, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hudgel, was held this forenoon at the residence on West Jefferson street, Rev. J. A. Ainslie conducting the services.

OFFICERS ELECTED

By the Germania Building and Loan Association.

The Germania Building and Loan association held a meeting last night and elected the following officers:

President—Peter Nussbaum.
Secretary—Charles H. Buck.
Treasurer—A. Fuelber.
Directors—Theabold Hofer, Henry Heine, Fred Leeper. George Weil, Ernest Theime and Louis Meyers.

The finances are in excellent shape and the affairs of the association will be wound up in about ten months, two months earlier than expected. This will release $50,000 in mortgages.

LOCAL LINES.

His many friends will be pleased to learn that the condition of W. D. Jones, the landlord of the New Aveline hotel, shows steady improvement. This morning, for the first time since he was taken sick, Mr. Jones was able to be at the table and eat a hearty breakfast.

Dr. B. Von Sweringen received a telegram this morning from Supt. A. H. Graham, announcing the death of Miss Mary W. Hipp, a teacher in the Soldiers' Orphans' home, at Knightstown. Miss Hipp will be well remembered by Fort Wayne people, she having visited Dr. and Mrs. B. VonSweringen on numerous occasions. She was formerly a teacher in the Feeble Minded institute, in this city.

Last evening about twenty-five of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. George Roberts, of West Butler street, invaded their home for the purpose of letting George know that it was his forty-third birthday. A good time was had by all present. Music, games and conversation were the order of the evening till 11:30, when a delightful luncheon was served, after which all bade the host and hostess many returns of the event and returned home.

The junior league of the Simpson M. E church gave and entertainment last evening at the church and it was one of the best and largest attended of any affair of the kind ever held there. All the participants did well. Those who took leading parts in the program were: Maud Haskell, Elsie Franz, Ethel Heiderrich, Flora Brown, Stella Stien, Blanche Moss, Pearl and Dessie Moss, Frankie Hickman, Dessie Curry, Myrtle Lewis

MISS CLARA BARTON.

Let Her Travel in Armenia and Distribute Relief.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 6.—The Turkish foreign minister has renewed to United States Minister Terrell, in the presence of Miss Clara Barton, president of the American Red Cross society, the government's promises to permit Miss Barton and her assistants to travel in Armenia and distribute relief. It is now known that although an imperial irade was drawn up authorizing Miss Barton to distribute relief to the Armenian sufferers, and was at first approved by the sultan, it was afterwards withdrawn by his majesty, while thousands of persons were suffering from cold and famine.

THE CITY HALL.

Affairs as They Have Happened Over There.

Police Court—To Enforce the Vehicle Tax Law—Pretty Flowers—The Everett Ordinance.

Charles Sheridan and Patrick Sullivan, drunks, were sent to jail from police court this morning. Albert Schanz, a young man who had escaped from a reform school in Pennsylvania, and who came to this city and secured employment at the Reformed Orphans' home, was taken up on the charge of vagrancy. It was learned from the story he told that he had worked his way west from Pennsylvania by doing some petty stealing, therefore Superintendent Rettig, of the home, did not want to risk keeping him about the place. The mayor sent him to jail and the Pennsylvania authorities will be notified of his capture.

MILKMEN AND BRICKMEN.

Mayor Oakley informed THE SENTINEL this morning that since the recent decision of the supreme court on the vehicle tax law he intends to compel all brick haulers and milkmen who use the streets of this city to come in and take out vehicle licenses. He says the supreme court decision leaves no loophole through which they can escape and he will see to it now that the law is enforced.

PRETTY FLOWERS.

Park Superintendent Doswell came to the city hall this morning with a number of pretty tulips in full bloom. They were the product of some bulbs which the city purchased last fall and they were grown in the green house of the north side park. They were left in the office of the board of public works.

ABOUT THE POLE TAX

The Consolidated Electric railway has made inquiries at the office of the city comptroller regarding the manner in which the chart should be made which will show the location of their poles in the city. The company has not yet said that it intended to pay the pole tax, but this is taken as an indication that it will do so. Charts have been filed by the Central Union Telephone company, the gas company and the Western Union.

THE EVERETT FRANCHISE.

City AttorneyNinde said this morning that the Everett street railroad franchise had not yet been completed, but he is still working on it. Mayor Oakley said it would be ready for the council at the next meeting on next Tuesday night.

FOUND A BODY.

Wallace street people are excited over the finding of the body of a still born infant in a vault at No. 103 on that street. Coroner Harrod and the officers are making an investigation. It is presumed that the body of the infant was placed in the vault last Sunday by two women who were seen in the outbuilding. The women were heavily veiled and were not recognized. The house at No. 103 Wallace street has been unoccupied for some time.

JACK, THE HOWLER

This is the name by which the people of Rockhill street know an individual who makes nightly trips along that street howling and yelling at the top of his voice. The people are laying for him with a club.

FOUND DEAD.

Louis Fernot's Body Discovered in a Barn at Dawkins.

Coroner Harrod was notified last night that Louis Fernot, a son of Christian Fernot, of Dawkins, east of this city, on the Nickel Plate road, has been found dead in the barn at his home. The discovery was made by the young man's mother, who missed him from the house yesterday morning and went on a search for him. He was found lying on the floor in the barn. No particulars could be obtained and Coroner Harrod went to the place this morning to make an investigation.

GRATIFYING RESULTS.

Interesting Experiments with the New Stomach Remedy.

The results of recent investigation, have established, beyond question, the great value of the new preparation for indigestion and stomach troubles; it is composed of the digestive acids, pepsin, bismuth, Golden Seal and similar stomachics, prepared in the form of 20 grain lozenges, pleasant to the taste, convenient to carry when traveling, harmless to the most delicate stomach, and probably the safest, most effectual cure yet discovered for indigestion, sour stomach, loss of appetite and flesh, nausea, sick headaches, palpitation of heart, and the many symptoms arising from imperfect digestion of food. They cure because they cause the food to be promptly and thoroughly digested before it has time to sour, ferment and poison the blood and nervous system.

Judge Frank Ives, of District Court of Crookston, Minn., says: For some time I have used Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets with seeming great benefit, with few exceptions, I have not been so free from indigestion in twenty-five years.

Geo. W. Roosevelt, U. S. Consul to Brussels, Belgium: Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, safe, pleasant to take, convenient to carry, give keen appetite, perfect digestion.

Mr. W. D. Tomlin, Mechanical Engineer, Duluth, Minn.: One box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets has done its work, and I am again gaining flesh and strength.

O. E. Ransom, Hustonville, Ky.: I was distressed and annoyed for two years with throwing up food, often two or three times a day; had no certainty of retaining a meal if I ate one. Four boxes of the tablets from my druggist, have fully cured me. I find them pleasant to take, convenient to carry.

Rev. G. D. Brown, Mondovi, Wis.: The effect of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is simply marvellous; a quite hearty dinner of broiled beef steak causes no distress since I began their use.

Over six thousand people in the state of Mich. alone in 1894 were cured of stomach troubles by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

THE democrats should put forward their very best men as candidates for councilmen in the different wards of the city.

THE return of Dr. Nansan from the north pole is certified to by Peter Ivanowitch Knuchnareff. This ought to remove all doubt.

IF there ever was a time in the history of Fort Wayne when the democrats should make no mistake in regard to their selection of a candidate for mayor, it is this year.

IT takes Kentucky an awful long while to elect a senator. The dead lock in their legislature is a strong argument for an election of United States senators by a direct vote of the people.

THERE will be music in the air tomorrow afternoon when the republicans of this city hold their caucuses to select delegates to their district convention. The candidates for delegate to the national convention are waging a bitter fight.

THE death of Rev. Dr. Lloyd, which occurred yesterday, removes one of the best known ministers in northern Indiana. He was a man of unblemished character, earnest Christian zeal, and had done a great work for the church. Few men were more highly esteemed or more universally beloved.

AN INNOVATION in the school holiday of the week—changing it from Saturday to Monday—although quite common in the east, has recently found lodgment in the west. The plan is now in operation in Butler university and is about to be put in operation in Franklin college. The change is claimed to make a better observance of Sabbath, as the students do not spend the day in the preparation of their lessons. What does the Fort Wayne school board think of such a change?

IF MR CLEVELAND firmly decides that he does not care for a fourth nomination and a third term, the influence he wields will probably have a great deal to do with the final outcome of the balloting for a presidential candidate at the Chicago convention. It has been known for months that if Mr. Cleveland finally decides that he does not care to enter the race again, that the great influence he wields as president of the United States upon the office holders that he has appointed that either his present secretary of state or the man he has placed at the head of the treasury department will be his choice.

IF THE Kentucky legislature should adjourn, as now seems likely, without electing a successor to Senator Blackburn, Governor Bradley will not be able to fill the vacancy by appointment. The senate has established a precedent that the governor of a state has no authority to fill a vacancy which results from a failure of the legislature to elect. Montana, Washington and Wyoming sent three men to Washington with credentials of this kind in their pockets, but they were not permitted to take their seats, as they had been appointed in each instance after the respective legislatures had failed to elect. Governor Bradley can call the Kentucky legislature together in extra session if he wishes to do so, but there is no occasion for any haste. Mr. Blackburn's term will not expire until March 4, 1897.

European Fears.

Europe does not like the prospect of American intervention in Cuba. Europe cannot be expected to like it. In Paris alone five hundred million dollars' worth of Cuban bonds are held, all of which would become worthless paper as soon as Cuba gained her independence.

The European papers call attention to the fact that the north raised a howl at the prospect of European recognition of the south. Of course it did, and of course Spain howls now. But the conditions are not the same. The south was trying to disrupt a united nation and to perpetuate the crime of slavery. The patriots of Cuba are striving for national freedom.

The parallel must be drawn, not on the war of the rebellion, but on that of the revolution, when the American people were fighting for freedom, and when France took up the cause of the patriots and recognized them as a nation, just as the United States are about to do in regard to Cuba.

It is absurd for the Europeans to say that the Cuban insurgents have done nothing to merit recognition as belligerents. If defying proud Spain, holding her armies in check for a year, conquering nine-tenths of the island, organizing and maintaining a republican government and taxing to the limit every resource of her vainglorious oppressor be not enough to make these patriots belligerents in the broadest sense of the word, then what is?

It takes the Europeans a long time to learn that the United States are not bluffing, but they will learn it soon—even if we should have to administer a "licking" to some one.

By Roentgen's Rays.

One of the results of the new photographic discovery by Dr. Roentgen is that a letter can be photographed through its envelope, and the contents read with as much ease as though the seal had been broken. This experiment has been successfully made by several members of the staff of the Gaulois at Paris and a telegram from that city has the following about it:

"In the course of experiments made with the assistance of M. Denis Lance, docteures-sciences, and M. de Bouillane, a skilled photographer, our contemporary claims to have made a new discovery, of which more will be said later. On Saturday these experiments were being explained to M. Alexandre Hepp, when he exclaimed:

"'Why, then, you will be able to photograph letters through their envelopes?'

"'Just so!' was the reply, though at that time it was unknown whether such a thing was possible.

"The result of the conversation was that M. Hepp handed over one of several letters which he had just written, and in less than half an hour received a negative which distinctly showed his handwriting.

"This is not possible, however, with all kinds of paper and all kinds of ink, says the Gaulois. But only fifteen seconds are necessary to photograph the contents of a letter written upon the paper of the chamber of deputies or of the senate and inclosed in an envelope of the same paper. However, several sheets of paper wrapped round the letter would make photography very difficult, if not impossible. It has been found that a paper wrapped in tinfoil can not be photographed.

Warning the Liquor Traffic.

(New Albany Tribune.)

Some people are exceedingly short-sighted and none of them more so than the saloon keepers of Indiana and perhaps of the whole country. Knowing as they must that there is a strong and earnest body of people opposed to their existence, it would seem that their true policy would be to avoid rousing that hostility to action. But their course generally has been one of open defiance of the conscientious opinion of a great many excellent people. It ought to be said, for it is the truth, that most of the embarassments in which they find themselves frequently involved, they bring upon themselves.

If the saloon keepers as a mass should unite in the purpose to remove the larger evils of their business, should submit cheerfully to the restraints of the law, should render due obedience to every requirement of every legislative enactment, they would find their road a much less hard one to travel than it is. Suppose there had been a universal observance of the provisions of the last general laws prior to 1895, there would not have been a strong and powerful movement for additional legislation.

If the law as it stood and stands now had been faithfully obeyed, if every saloon in Indiana had been closed on legal holidays, on election days, on Sundays, and in the hours of the night after the time fixed by the law, fast closed up so that no one could enter, if they had always refused to sell liquor to minors and to men in the habit of becoming intoxicated, if they had always preserved the peace absolutely kept hard characters off their premises, suppressed gambling and other vices therein, had refused to permit their places of business to become resorts for anarchists and places for criminal conspiracies to be hatched; if they had been in all respects law-abiding and maintained law and order within their precincts, there would never have been a Nicholson law, an enactment whose sole purpose, with one exception, was to make it possible to enforce existing law.

And still, blindly, the law with its Nicholson supplement is violated every day in the year and wrath gathers greater head against the traffic. There is a fairly respectable body of fairly respectable people who cannot understand why a man who runs a saloon should be permitted to violate the law when others are required to obey it.

ARCHBISHOP KENRICK.

His Death Removes a Prominent Catholic Prelate.

Peter Richard Kenrick, whose death occurred last Wednesday, at St. Louis, was for nearly half a century the Catholic archbishop of that diocese. He was 88 years of age and had been in very feeble health for several years

With the possible exception of John Ireland of St. Paul, no other archbishop of the Roman Catholic church in America has attracted more notice than Peter Richard Kenrick.

When Archbishop Kenrick began his administration St. Louis was a town of 20 000 inhabitants, and had two Catholic churches—the Cathedral, built in 1834, and a little Jesuit chapel. The diocese now contains over 300 churches, twenty-five stations and a Catholic population of over 350,000. At the time of his appointment as bishop of Drasa the diocese of St. Louis comprised Missouri, Arkansas and the western end of Illinois, and the bishop was compelled to travel on horseback or in wagons or stages over this immense territory, which has since been divided.

In the vatican he was a strong opponent of the doctrine of the infalibility of the pope, and had it not been for this opposition, it is said that the archbishop would have been made a cardinal.

He introduced into his diocese many religious societies that now control scores of schools and other institutions, many of them charitable. He laid out the cemetery of St. Louis. He was an author and had written several works of recognized merit.

MARVIN KUHNS.

The Noted Bandit's Habits in the Ohio Penitentiary.

(Cincinnati Enquirer.)

One of the most remarkable prisoners in the Columbus penitentiary is Marvin Kuhns, the celebrated outlaw, serving a life term for the murder of his pal at Tiffin five years ago. The wounds Kuhns received from the revolver of Deputy Sheriff Wilkinson, when he was captured near Fort Wayne, Ind., were at first supposed to be fatal, but Kuhns recovered. He still carries several bullets in his body, but experiences no inconvenience from them, and it is safe to say that were there to be a championship contest in the manly art at the prison, Kuhns could knock out any convict in the institution.

He is six feet in height, as straight as an arrow, powerfully muscled and as agile as a professional athlete. When the prisoners are marched to and from their meals or their work through the spacious yard within the walls, it is Kuhn's duty to lead one of the companies. He marches at the head of his company with all the dignity of a soldier, instead of indicating any inclination to hang his head and skulk past the gaze of the spectators. His head is thrown back, his carriage is graceful, his striped clothes are neatly brushed, his heavy prison shoes are polished and his cap of black and white is worn with the jaunty air of the fearless, daring bandit that he is. The class of women who find pleasure in visiting the penitentiary and indulging in sentimental talk over the convicts, invariably find an object of admiration in Marvin Kuhns.

THE GENIUS OF WISCONSIN.

Typified In a Heroic Statue by Miss Nellie Mears.

There is an interesting story connected with a piece of sculpture which is almost completed in a New York studio and which is soon to be sent to Madison, Wis., there to be erected on the state capitol building. It was designed by Miss Nellie Mears of Oshkosh, a young woman who is not yet in her twentieth year. She sent the design to the World's fair, where it took the second prize. It was her first attempt, but its artistic qualities at once attracted attention and won for her the commission for a heroic statue for the Wisconsin state building.

MISS MEARS.

The statue represents a beautiful young woman, draped in an American flag, standing with uplifted face and caressing an eagle which perches just above her shoulder on a rock against which she is leaning. The bird of freedom is an idealization of "Old Abe," the historic eagle which perched on the colors of a Wisconsin regiment during the civil war, and which was captured and cared for with tender solicitude in the statehouse for years afterward. The title of the statue is "The Genius of Wisconsin" and is an admirable conception, executed with much skill if not genius. It is said that Miss Mears had never seen a statue when she made her design, but she has seen many since and bids fair to become one of the most successful of the younger school of sculptors.

Her first success gained for her the notice of Augustus St. Gaudens, the famous New York sculptor, and at his invitation she worked in his studios for more than a year. She was engaged during that time in working on the Logan statue. A short time ago she sailed for Paris, with a letter from Mr. St. Gaudens to Mr. MacMonnies, recommending her to his care as one of the strongest pupils he had ever had. Miss Mears was accompanied by Miss Dodd of Madison, and she will study abroad for two years. When she returns, she expects to settle in New York.

The ladies of the Congregational church will serve a supper from 6 o'clock to 8, in the parlors of the church this evening. An entertainment consisting of Mrs. Jarley's wax works will be given.

HORTICULTURISTS TO MEET.

A Horticultural Society to be Organized in This City.

A meeting will be held at the city greenhouse in the North Side park at 2:30 Sunday afternoon for the purpose of organizing a horticultural society. The project is in the hands of the Fort Wayne florists. Anyone who is interested in the growing of plants and flowers is eligible to membership and already over forty persons have signified their intention to become members It will be purely horticultural. It is the intention to hold annual flower shows in the city after the organization has been completed.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

FARM AND GARDEN

CHEAP PLANTHOUSES.

How to Build and How to Heat Them. The Best Location.

Many gardeners would like to have greenhouse privileges, but fear the expense of building and heating one. There is a constant demand for plans of "cheap" houses. On a level and unprotected surface nothing cheaper or simpler can be put up than a little forcing pit, the plant beds of which are on the natural surface, with the walks or paths sunk 18 inches or 2 feet into the ground and the whole covered with a roof of ordinary hotbed sashes. A hillside facing south or southeast offers a still better site and chance for the erection of a cheap planthouse. Thus writes T. Griener, who furnishes in American Gardening illustrations giving a cross section of such a house and a general view of it. The situation affords the very best possible protection, and the heating can be done in a very economical manner. Proper provision will have to be made for draining the surface water from the hill off to one side. A little shanty built cheaply but warmly at one (the west) end of the planthouse serves as a furnace and potting room. Concerning the heating of a planthouse the same authority says:

When a house or pit is used only for plant growing toward spring, and closest economy has to be practiced, the heating might be done by means of a double flue, the fireplace being in the shanty, and the return flue placed upon the other and ending in the chimney almost directly above the fireplace. The draft has to be adjusted in such a manner that a direct connection can be had from the fireplace to the chimney, to be open when fire is first started and then closed and the connection made with the flues. Fire will only be needed during the night, and perhaps a very little of it on cloudy days. The hot water method, however, will be found much more convenient even then, and surely by far the best and really only satisfactory plan when the house is to be used for forcing winter vegetables. It will surely pay big interest for the investment to put in one of the hot water heaters now made and advertised by various firms. I cannot tell you which of all of them is the best. Probably there is little difference. They all can be depended on to give good service if you will get the proper size. The manufacturers will be willing enough to advise you as to the size required to heat your planthouse.

The problem of heating a small planthouse is simplified where natural gas (in some cases even the ordinary illuminating gas) can be had. We might then dispense with a regular heater, and just bring the heating flame to bear upon a coil of pipe connecting with the heating pipe system. Of course the coil is inside of a fireplace of brick or inclosed with a sheet iron jacket. That there must be an expansion tank connecting with the highest point in the pipe system to furnish some pressure and the necessary quantity of water for circulation, and to provide for waste by evaporation, need hardly be specially mentioned. For the gardener who is trying to make a living by raising and selling garden truck a good greenhouse or plant pit is an absolute necessity.

One Way to Save Money.

During the winter many conveniences and necessary farm tools and implements may be made in the home workhouse. Hayracks, wagon beds, swing gates, water troughs and tanks, sleds, tool racks, stalk rakes, chicken coops, shipping crates and berry boxes are simple in construction. Any bright farmer, with the assistance of a blacksmith, can make all of these and more. The expense will be much less than if bought in town or hired made. The tools which every well regulated farm ought to possess will answer. We have in mind a young farmer who does all this kind of work, and he is prospering in spite of hard times, cheap products, etc. He raises as much grain and stock as his neighbors who buy everything "ready" made, and has much more "ready" cash. Try your hand at it when the weather prevents outside work, advises The New England Homestead.

Experiments In Corn Culture.

Field experiments with corn reported from the Utah station by A. A. Mills consisted of tests of varieties of thick and thin planting and of detasseling. Of the varieties grown three years the common white flint of the locality gave the largest average yield. Thick and thin planting gave almost identical results. Every alternate row of corn was detasseled. These rows gave a smaller yield than the alternate rows not detasseled.

RED KAFFIR CORN.

The Most Valuable Nonsaccharine Sorghum For Poor, Dry Soils—Cultural Notes.

Kaffir corn, one of the many nonsaccharine sorghums, is attracting attention in many widely separated parts of the country, and notably those sections where drought is liable to prevail. Following are extracts of interest on this subject from an article on sorghums by F. B. Burtis and published in a Kansas state board of agriculture report:

White Kaffir corn is one of the early introduced varieties of the nonsaccharine sorts. The plant grows short and stalky, and has short joints covered with large and numerous leaves. At maturity the stalks are quite dry and pithy. The seed tops grow erect, are long and slender and bear white seed. If dry weather checks this variety, the seed tops do not push out of the sheath, and the lower part molds and the grain is worthless. Under ordinary conditions this variety yields from 40 to 50 bushels of grain per acre and a fair yield of fodder, but the stalks are mostly refused by stock.

Red Kaffir was introduced at the Kansas station in 1889. It differs from the white fodder in that it grows taller and more slender and is much more juicy and sweeter. The seed differs in color and is somewhat smaller and harder. At the station it outyields the white in grain and fodder, and matures somewhat earlier, and we consider it superior in all respects. Of all varieties red Kaffir corn is the most valuable for farmers in general. It combines a large yield of fodder with the largest yield of grain, and is of a growth suitable to economical harvesting. Stock eat the fodder with a relish, and the feeding value of the grain is excelled by none. It stands dry weather as well, and does better on poor soil than any other. But it will respond well to good soil and plenty of moisture. After a variety has been selected an important point is to keep it pure, which will take some care if several kinds are raised in the same field.

Sorghum requires warm weather to develop it. The mistake is often made of planting it too early. Before or not later than corn was the practice a few years ago. Generally the result of this was a very poor stand. The seed should never be planted until the ground is thoroughly warm. Shallow planting will help the germination much; half as deep as for corn is a good depth. The early growth is very slow and the plants tender; hence the necessity of having the ground free from weeds at time of planting.

A great advantage of the sorghums over corn for forage is that they admit of close planting. Sorghums will admit of close drilling and produce a full grain crop, and, with thick seeding, will make excellent hay. As a hay crop a yield of two to four tons per acre is not unusual. For this the quantity of seed sown per acre should be varied somewhat to suit the conditions, but in most cases if broadcasted one bushel will be sufficient, and if drilled three pecks. Put on enough seed to make the plants small and fine; the yield will be about as much and can be handled much easier and better. The best plan is to plant thick enough to make good, fine hay without any thought of the grain.

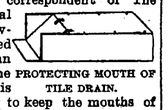
If grain is wanted, drill the rows far enough apart to admit of cultivation, so as to produce the largest yield of grain. At the experiment station we find to give the maximum yield of grain the rows should not be farther apart than 3 feet and may be as close as 2½, and the stalks should be from 4 to 6 inches apart in the row. The above applies to such a variety as red Kaffir corn, as in rich soil some of the ranker growing sorts will lodge when planted so close.

The Maple Sap Flow.

According to A. H. Wood of the New Hampshire experiment station the flow of maple sap is largely dependent upon the depth of the tapping. According to his three years' experiments the theory that all or nearly all the sap comes from the outside wood is erroneous. He makes it appear that the additional injury to the tree by deep tapping is very slight, especially if the hole is small. Where a three-eighths inch bit is used and the bark practically uninjured the majority of the holes will be grown over the first summer after tapping. The amount of flow from the north and south sides of trees was investigated, and it was found that under equal conditions the common practice of tapping on the south side of trees is to be preferred.

Protecting Tile Drains.

An Indiana correspondent of The Farm Journal gives the following illustrated description of an arrangement he invented and is now employing to keep the mouths of tile drains free from obstructions:



PROTECTING MOUTH OF TILE DRAIN.

He uses two inch cross lumber, the width being governed by size of tile. Cut bottom board 3 feet 3 inches, and top 2 feet 6 inches, and sides a proper length so as to give the door, which hangs from the top, a good slant. Door must work freely. Slip box over the tile and stake down firmly.

Odd Mention.

It was told at a meeting of Illinois horticulturists that a mixture of soft soap and copperas, applied with a whitewash brush, will keep out borers. Soapsuds to which a handful of copperas is added, if poured about the base of peach trees, will kill grubs.

Iowa has come to be a great dairy state, which fact is shown not only by the large output of butter, but by the stringent laws against bogus dairy products and the effort to secure a first class article.

A National Hymn.

Our faith and hope! Our joy and pride!
America, we hail thee!
With thee shall Liberty abide;
Thy sons shall never fail thee;
From north to south, from east to west,
One law, one flag, one nation;
The love that fills each patriot breast
Shall be thy firm foundation.

CHORUS.
Home of the free,
Let land and sea
Sing thy inspiring story,
While, brave and bright,
Thy flag of light
Floats in the van of glory.

The stars that from thy banner shine
Enkindle Freedom's beacon,
To all the world a sacred sign,
A flame that cannot weaken;
A flame that o'er Atlantic burns,
That gilds the orient ocean,
Wherever man for Freedom yearns,
His symbol of devotion.

Republic that no hate divides,
United in affection,
A hemisphere in thee confides
And claims thy strong protection.
And should the just occasion come,
Stand, freemen, calm and steady;
The bugle blast, the tap of drum,
Shall find Columbia ready.

For tyrannies and kingships all
The passing bell is tolling.
O nations, hear Columbia's call!
For ye the world is rolling,
Not for the rulers ye have made,
The puppets of your power.
Rise, freemen, strong and unafraid;
The planet is your dower.

Sublime republic, unto thee
Is given a holy mission,
To lead the legions of the free
To better man's condition.
In this thy glory we rejoice;
Thy sons shall never fail thee.
Beloved land, with heart and voice,
America, we hail thee!

STORIES OF THE DAY.

Remarkable Weather Phenomena Happening In These Days.

A curious phenomenon occurred at Hartford the other night, resulting from a high wind and a slight fall of moist snow on an icy surface. The wind caught the snow and rolled it up into thousands of snowballs. Hundreds of balls were whirled up and sent rolling along, gathering snow at each turn and each leaving its marked trail behind. The wide slope of land surrounding Trinity college was one field of rolling snowballs. Dr. Samuel Hart thus describes the phenomenon:

"The rotary wind flaw catches the snow and rolls it up like a puff in cylindrical form. Most that I saw were about eight inches wide and eight inches in diameter, hollowed at the two ends. They are in effect isosceles triangles of snow rolled up on the vertex."

The same phenomenon occurred about 12 years ago. Some of the wind made snowballs were as large as half barrels.

Chicago was visited by a most singular meteorological phenomenon a few nights since. Black snow, yellow snow and brown snow fell in blinding clouds over the entire city, and reports from suburban towns brought the news that the varicolored storm was not an exclusive Chicago production.

The chief of the weather bureau at Washington says:

"The black snow that has lately fallen in Chicago and the northwest is similar to the great fall of January, 1895, the nature of which was thoroughly investigated by the weather bureau at that time. Notwithstanding the theoretical suggestion that the black deposit on last January might have come from beyond the earth and might be meteoric or cometic, or might even be the volcanic dust from Alaska or Japan, careful investigation showed that it was due to none of these causes.

"On the contrary, microscopic examination proved that the black deposit contained about 4 per cent of the most delicate organic structures (such as diatoms and spores) and about 96 per cent of the finest possible inorganic matter, such as makes up the ordinary fine silt and clay soils. All this fine material is easily caught up by the dry winds whenever they exceed 20 miles per hour and is carried to great distances before it settles on the ground. It is easily brought down in large quantities by snow or rain, but is only perceived by the ordinary observer where there is a clean surface of snow for it to fall upon. Large portions of country from Nebraska southward to the gulf are covered by this fine soil, whose depth sometimes is 100 feet. A gale of wind has been known to carry away six inches of the surface soil from a freshly cultivated field and spread it over the land 100 miles away. The blackness is due to the fineness of the silt and not to any magnetic iron."—New York Sun.

The last few days, whenever snow has fallen in Salt Lake City, a white sediment has been left wherever the snow touched. There has been much speculation as to the actual cause; the local scientists have been and are now divided upon that point. There are those who insist that the sediment was taken up from the bosom of Great Salt Lake. There are others who believe the deposit is sulphate of soda, which is thrown up on the shores of Great Salt Lake during the winter by the action of the cold weather on the briny waters. Be that as it may, the houses facing north, the street car windows and every piece of glass exposed has become incrusted. Pedestrians who happened to be out in the storm did not notice anything out of the way until their clothing dried, when it was discerned that the apparel was literally sprinkled with what appeared to be salt. The deposit is of a saline nature. That was discovered by the application of the tongue.

It is a phenomenon that frequently occurs in Salt Lake City, and especially during the winter season, but a good deal of work was necessary to remove the stains left on the windows. There has not been a snowstorm within the last ten days when the deposit of the sediment has not occurred. The savants are still guessing.—Chicago Chronicle.

A remarkable phenomenon was witnessed at Chicago the other night for which the United States signal service can offer no solution or reason. It was a dust storm which prevailed until far in the night in the midst of a snowstorm. Everything touched was besmeared with a dark brown substance, which was clearly dirt of some sort, but just what no one was able to say.

This dust storm began about 20 minutes to 7 o'clock and was at first rather violent, the wind being strong, but after an hour or so subsided somewhat. Reports from southern Wisconsin, eastern Iowa and western Indiana show that the storm also prevailed there.

In some of the places where the storm prevailed the brown dust covered the snow to the depth of an eighth of an inch.—New York Herald.

A remarkable atmospheric phenomenon occurred early the other morning over the ocean near Cape May. The frosty air there was filled for some 20 feet deep with ice crystals, the frozen evaporation of the warmer water of the sea. All the fleecy, flaky characteristics of drifting snow were present. On this bank the shipping of the offing seemed to glide in and out of the bay like figures on a mimic stage.

The sun had ascended some 30 degrees above the horizon before the novel sight disappeared by the melting of this attenuated snow bank. Seamen note such occurrences in the gulf stream, where the warm water of the ocean is evaporated and frozen near its surface on frosty mornings when the air is still.—Philadelphia Ledger.

WHY?

QUESTIONS WOMEN ASK

Here Answered with Good Sound Reason.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

Why do people say that Lydia E. Pinkham's treatment, especially her Vegetable Compound, effects cures beyond the physician's skill?

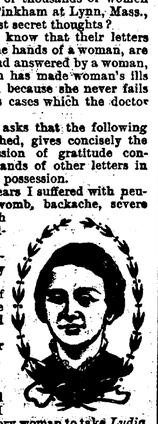
Because of the fact that a woman best understands a woman's ills. What man ever suffered a single pang like unto woman? Man works from theory only.

Why do tens of thousands of women write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., telling their most secret thoughts?

Because they know that their letters go straight to the hands of a woman, are opened, read, and answered by a woman, who as a woman has made woman's ills a life study, and because she never fails them, and cures cases which the doctor cannot.

The lady who asks that the following letter be published, gives concisely the uniform expression of gratitude contained in thousands of other letters in Mrs. Pinkham's possession.

"For eight years I suffered with neuralgia of the womb, backache, severe pains all through my body, and kidney trouble. None of the doctors did me any good. I took twelve bottles of your Vegetable Compound, and cannot thank you enough for the relief I found.



"I am now well cured of all those pains. I should advise every woman to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound who has any female trouble. I had a friend who was to go under an operation. I advised her first to try the Compound. She did, and is now so much better and stronger she has given up all thoughts of the operation." — MRS. M. WILDE, 2137 Park St., Tioga, Pa.

SHOP AND RAIL.

The Bass Works Preparing to Test Car Axles.

Some Changes in the Freight Department of the Wabash—Office and Shop Gossip.

A tower and machinery for testing car axles will be erected by the Bass Foundry and Machine works on Virginia street, opposite the blacksmith shop, next week. The tower will be equipped with machinery for hoisting an iron which will weigh 1,600 pounds and when the piece reaches a height of forty or fifty feet it will become detached from the chain and fall to the bottom of the shaft, where it will strike the axles. The axle which survives this test will be considered perfect, while those bent, cracked or otherwise injured will be sent back to the shop to be hammered out anew.

CHANGES ON THE WABASH.

The official announcement of the following changes in the freight department of the Wabash road has just been made:

John D. Lund, assistant general freight agent, has been transferred from St. Louis to Kansas City, with his present title, and will have charge of all freight traffic matters west of the latter city.

Philip W. Coyle will take Mr. Lund's place at St. Louis, and Walter H. Wylie will succeed Mr. Coyle as commercial freight agent at St. Louis. Mr. Coyle is a frequent visitor here and is quite well known all over the Wabash system.

MINOR NOTES.

Nickel Plate Conductor Kitselman is enjoying a few days' rest.

Al. Mercer, of the Bass blacksmith shop, has a very sick baby.

Ed. Driftmeyer is now working in the punch department at the electric works.

Frank Huxley, D. T. McFee and George Cooper, Nickel Plate conductors, have been taking a few days' rest.

J. T. Wann, auditor of the Erie Railway company, has had his jurisdiction extended to include the Chicago and Erie.

William Mosher has returned from Grand Rapids, where he was called a week ago to attend the funeral of his sister. He is employed in the electric works.

Theodore Tagtmeyer, Bruce Congdon and Charles Stellhorn have taken positions in the sheetiron department of the electric works.

J. P. Robinson has been appointed road foreman of engines on the E & A. division of the Pennsylvania, vice Frank Ray, resigned.

Conductor and Mrs. Brumbaugh went to Chicago yesterday, to remain a week, the guest of friends. Brumbaugh, Mr. is employed on the Nickel Plate.

Charles A. Beach, superintendent of the Buffalo division of the Lehigh Valley, has resigned and Lucas Van Allen has been appointed acting superintendent of that division.

Nickel Plate engine 6 was turned out of the Stony Island shops yesterday and has gone into service on the Third district in charge of Engineer A. Dresbach and Fireman C. Hue.

A Lorain county man has sued the Cleveland, Lorain and Wheeling for $10,000 damages. When he worked in the company's shops at Lorain he claims to have got into a draught which ruined his health.

Indianapolis Journal: "For nearly ten years Patrick Finley, an engineer on the Pennsylvania, has been drawing on an average $24 per month from the Pennsylvania Voluntary Relief fund. Being unable to work on account of disability, he appreciates the Relief association."

Ex-Trainmaster Cyrus Sissler has so far recovered from his recent paralytic stroke that he expects on the first of the month to take his old run on the Wabash as conductor between Toledo and Tilton. Mr. Sissler had the opportunity, a few months ago, to read his obituary, which was published on a rumor that he was dead.

The directors of the Nickel Plate on Tuesday declared a 5 per cent. dividend on its pre'erred stock.

Trainmaster C. E. Wells and his chief clerk, T. E. Sullivan, of the Wabash, were here several hours yesterday.

Edward H. Witte, a Wabash employe, has been transferred from the freight house to the machine shop.

Machinist Louis Seibt, of the Bass works, is suffering with the grip and will not be able to work for a few days.

Peter J. LaBeck, of the Bass machine shop, has taken a two weeks' vacation, which he will spend in the west.

A. Sine, L. Sweeney and J. Stuart, Pittsburg engineers, who were off duty several days for various reasons, reported for work this morning.

J. E. Meyers, an employe of the Wabash shops, has gone to Springfield, Ill., to be treated by the company's specialist for inflammation of the eyes.

Samuel Wass, jr., has resigned a position at the factory of Rhinesmith & Simonson and taken one with the Haswell Chair and Manufacturing company.

Blacksmith Terrence Martin laid off today to attend the funeral of his old friend, Frederick Beulow, which occurred from Zion's Lutheran church this morning.

Dealers are receiving their stock of fishing tackle, a sure sign that spring will be upon us inside a month. A large consignment of fish poles arrived at the Wabash freight house this morning.

The case of Heeter vs. the Wabash company, which was to commence in Toledo yesterday, has been continued until the next term of court and will not come up for trial until some time in September.

While the citizens of Elwood are enthused over a rumor that the Panhandle shops at Logansport are to be removed to Elwood, basing the belief on the fact that Panhandle officials are interested in property there, the company is contemplating considerably enlarging the shops at Logansport as a result of the recent visit of General Manager Loree and General Superintendent Miller to that city.

Compressed air as a power has displaced steam in three departments of the Pullman Palace Car company's works at Pullman, Ill., and the results have so far satisfied the officials that in all probability the new force will be in use shortly in all the great shops of the corporation. The change is radical and marks a revolution in the manufacturing system of the great Pullman plant. With the air system it is claimed that the speed of the machine in use may be graded, something impossible when a belt is used.

Yesterday's Indianapolis Journal had this item: "Fort Wayne is the most important city in the northern part of the state and the conveniences for reaching it from Indianapolis by rail are by no means satisfactory. A passenger official says the Big Four and the Lake Erie and Western should run through coaches between Indianapolis and Fort Wayne at hours which would be convenient to the traveling public The expense of such an arrangement would be light and in a short time the route would become a popular one, as the best time could be made."

The laboratory at the electric works is being fitted with apparatus for experimental purposes in sciography with the Roentgen X rays. The experiments will be made by Prof. Thomas Duncan.

Supt J. J. Wood has gotten out some improvements on his dynamos and the first machine will leave the works tomorrow for Buffalo, when its performances will be a revelation to men who are supposed to know something about dynamos. The new machine is of 100 light arc capacity.

Pittsburg engine 310, which was run into the round house at 5 o'clock this morning and left standing on the drop pit, sprang a leak at the throttle, moved through the open door and dropped down into the trans'er table, between the round house and machine shop. The only damage to the engine was the bending and displacement of the driver air brakes. It was 9 o'clock when the wrecking crew got the engine back into the round house.

Mrs. Mary Dolan, of No. 58 Walton avenue, left Wednesday to visit relatives in Niles, Mich., and other points.

MAGNETISM DOES IT.

W. D. CRUMBIE'S NEW WAY OF PHOTOGRAPHING HIDDEN OBJECTS.

Magnetic Force Proved to Be the Principle—Cathode Rays Not Necessary—Astonishing Results Without the Agency of Any Light.

Since Professor Roentgen's discovery of photography by means of the cathode rays the most important results in that line of investigation have recently been obtained by William D. Crumbie, an assistant in the United States laboratory in New York.

Mr. Crumbie has lately shown that the Roentgen pictures, so called, may be obtained without the use of the tubes, and therefore without the cathode rays which were supposed to be absolutely essential to the process. The results of his experiments without light are pictures—not shadows—clear in form and outline.

He began his investigation with the assumption that the pictures were produced not by the rays, but by some influence in the magnetic field. His experiments have shown to him the truth of this theory, though he frankly admits that he is unable to define the influence which has produced such astonishing results.

At the last meeting of the New York section of the Society of Chemical Industry Mr. Crumbie's experiments, as reported by his chief, Dr. Wainwright, were discussed with the most profound interest. Chairman Alfred H. Mason of the New York section of the society said that Mr. Crumbie's discovery was really made in an entirely different field from that of Professor Roentgen's investigation. He predicted that it opened the way to results even more remarkable.

Mr. Crumbie's experiments began soon after the announcement of Professor Roentgen's discovery. At his home in East Orange he explained to a reporter his methods of investigation. Feeling sure that the pictures could be produced without the rays, he constructed his apparatus accordingly. The generative force at the outset was very much like that of Roentgen's.

Mr. Crumbie used two Edison-Leland phonograph batteries. The primary circuit was established from these batteries to a small inductive coil, from which secondary wires were run to two brass plates. Two coins and a key were wrapped in two folds of Bristol board and placed between two gelatin plates and the bundle thus formed was placed in an ordinary photograph holder, which was set between the metal plates. To avoid all possibility of light, the experimenter placed a photographer's cover over the apparatus.

After an exposure of 30 hours, Mr. Crumbie's work was rewarded in a most astonishing way. He found that the objects had been photographed clearly and distinctly without the use of the tubes at all. He thought at first that the result might be due to sparking against the paper, and he made experiments to see if this were so.

He used a much stronger current to see whether sparking, if it had occurred, would produce marks on the cardboard or the gelatin fim. There was no evidence of any action aside from the usual development.

Then Mr. Crumbie was sure of his theory that the pictures had been produced entirely by magnetic action.

Afterward he made a picture of a Columbian half dollar on carbon paper without the wrapping of Bristol board. The picture revealed clearly the letters and date.

Mr. Crumbie modestly attributes these results to the influence of Tesla's success in his experiments in the static field, but he will continue his own work, and has hopes of obtaining even better photographs than those recently made.—New York World.

CONVENTION PLANS IN OHIO.

Probable Candidates and Delegates to be Named by Republicans.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 6.—By placing additional chairs in the Grand opera house it has been found practicable to seat the delegates to the republican state convention on the floor of the auditorium. The proposition to take the convention to the Fourteenth regiment armory has therefore been abandoned. The delegates will meet next Tuesday afternoon by congressional districts and each will select members of the usual committees. These committees will meet for their work in the evening. The convention proper will meet Wednesday morning. Senator-elect Foraker will preside temporarily.

Charles Kinney, of Portsmouth, and E. W. Doty, of Cleveland, are candidates for the nomination for secretary of state. Mr. Kinney will probably get get it. For supreme judge M. J. Williams, the incumbent, and John A. Price, of Bellefontaine, are candidates. Mr. Williams will probably be again chosen. For state food commissioner F. C. McNeal will probably be renominated, and Representative Frank Huffman, of Van Wert, will be named for member of the board, of public works.

For delegates at large it is expected that Senator-elect Foraker, Governor Bushnell, Mark A. Hanna and probably C. H Grosvenor will be chosen.

FONDNESS FOR MATRIMONY.

Minnie Russell, of Terre Haute, Married Three Times.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., March 6.—Minnie Russell, eighteen years of age, was married yesterday for the third time. The man she married is Louis Russell, sixty-one years of age, from whom she was divorced three months ago. She married a man named Higginbotham when she was fourteen years of age. He died less than a year ago, leaving her with two children.

Miss Maude Hendricks, a teacher in the Hosgland school, was removed from her rooms yesterday to Hope hospital. Her many friends will be pained to hear that she suffers from acute muscular rheumatism.

"Nothing Venture, Nothing Have."

Rev. John Reid, Jr., of Great Falls, Mon., recommended Ely's Cream Balm to me. I can emphasize this statement. "It is a positive cure for catarrh if used as directed."—Rev. Francis W. Poole, Pastor Central Pres. Church, Helena, Mont.

It is the medicine above all others for catarrh, and is worth its weight in gold. I can use Ely's Cream Balm with safety and it does all that is claimed for it.—B. W. Sperry, Hartford, Conn.

HERE TO STAY.

A Jealous Rival Starts a False Report.

The Brenzinger Bread Baking Company Are a Permanent Institution —Have a Ten Year's Lease.

For some time rumors have been current that the Brenzinger Baking company, located at No. 14 Washington boulevard, were not a permanent institution and intended, in a short time, to leave the city.

Mr. G. F. Yergens, the manager for the company, desires to inform the public that this report is entirely false, and was started by a jealous rival, who, owing to the progressive methods of the Brenzinger Baking company, sees his business rapidly drifting away from him and takes this petty manner of seeking revenge.

The large building occupied by the Brenzinger company was built expressly for their use by Fisher Bros. and a ten year lease given. The plant is one of the best equipped in the state for baking purposes and nothing but purely high class goods are turned out Everything pertaining to the baking line is manufactured by them and the town is thoroughly covered by a system of delivery wagons so that you can have your bread delivered fresh at your door every morning. In addition to this every first-class grocery in the city handles Brenzinger bread, cakes, etc. If your grocer does not have Brenzinger bread on sale, insist on him getting it at once, you want the best and that is to be found in the Brenzinger brand of bread.

This bakery pays special attention to the baking of cakes, pies and fancy pastry of all kinds, and are prepared to furnish parties at short notice with the most toothsome creations of the bakers art.

Under the present management this company has rapidly come to the front and assumed a position head and shoulders above all competitors and are now the recognized leaders in the baking line in Fort Wayne. They have unlimited capital back of them and are prepared to stay.

Ring up telephone No. 548 and order a supply of Brenzinger bread, and you will become a permanent customer of this favorite bakery.

RIOTS CONTINUE

In Nearly Every Large City in Italy.

Encounters Between the Soldiers and Rioters—Strong Feeling Against Baratieri.

ROME, March 6.—The rioting caused by the anger of the people at the conduct of the Abyssinian campaign, brought to a climax by the complete defeat of the Italian army, under General Baratieri, was continued last night in nearly every large city of Italy, although a rain storm cleared the streets of the capital.

At Milan, a large crowd marched through the principal streets, smashing windows right and left, yelling execration at Crispi and his minis and calling for the trial and prompt execution of General Baratieri. The rioters made their way to the railroad station with the intention of preventing the departure from Milan of the army reserve of that city and neighborhood belonging to the class of 1872, but, anticipating trouble, the authorities kept the men in the barracks and sent a regiment of infantry to guard the railroad station. These precautions only served to increase the sentiment of the mob leaders, and an attempt was made to break into the depot.

A number of sharp encounters between the rioters and soldiers and police followed. The soldiers and carabineieri were pelted with stone and the points of bayonets and swords were used to drive back the crowds. A number of soldiers and policemen were injured, and scores of rioters were slightly wounded. The disturbances continued until 2 o'clock in the morning, at which time the troops, at the point of the bayonet, had cleared the railroad station and its neighborhood of rioters and established a cordon of soldiers about it, while guarding with strong pickets all the approaches. The troops remained on duty all night.

There is today a marked improvement in the demeanor of the populace. A proclamation by the mayor enjoined the inhabitants of Rome to be calm and avoid assemblages, which would tend to develop riotous demonstrations. Business is proceeding as usual, and the only evidence here of the recent disturbances are the strong additional guards of soldiers on duty about the palace and all public buildings.

There was serious rioting at Parma last night. The municipal buildings were besieged by angry mobs, windows were smashed, there were a number of lively fights between the police and the populace and the troops were compelled to fire a volley over the heads of the most riotous of the mobs. This dampened the anger of the rioters, who scattered in all directions, pursued by the carabinieri, who succeeded in arresting several of the leaders of the disturbances. They will be kept prisoners until the popular excitement subsides.

There were a number of meetings last night of the different factions of the opposition, but nothing definite was decided upon, although a group of members of the right party passed a resolution demanding the complete abandonment of Erythea, as its retention would only involve a waste of money and men.

The Marquis Di Rudini is now looked upon as likely to yield to the representations of his friends and consent to undertake the formation of a new cabinet with General Ricotti as minister of war. The latter has already held that portfolio three times, first in 1870, again in 1873 and lastly in 1877.

The work of dispatching reinforcements to Massowah is being pushed with praiseworthy vigor. On board the chartered transports gangs of men relieve each other so that the fitting out of these vessels is continued day and night. The army reserve men of the class 1872 just called to the colors, will, so soon as equipped, relieve regiments now doing garrison duty and the soldiers thus rendered available for active service will be shipped to Africa as rapidly as possible, the incoming ministry makes a complete change in the colonial policy of the country as advocated by many prominent men, and it is determined to make peace at any price with the Abyssinians.

The students of Pisa invaded the railroad stations here last evening, as a result of a report having been circulated that the artillery of the garrison of that place was to be transferred to Naples for shipment to Africa. They marched in procession to the depot shouting, "down with Crispi," "get us back our soldiers," "death to Baratieri," etc. The local authorities, however proved equal to the occasion. A strong force of police were sent to the station and the students were dispersed after burning all the copies obtainable of the government newspaper organs and smashing a few windows.

Among the military men there is a strong sentiment in favor of pushing the campaign in Africa to the utmost, even if it is necessary to call out all the army reserve and send 50,000 additional troops to Abyssinia. But the sober minded representatives of the business community advocate a policy of peace, even if it is necessary for Italy's pride to suffer in order to obtain these ends. The masses, as a rule, are opposed to any further sacrifice of the lives of Italian soldiers and they are in sympathy with those who favor a complete change in the colonial policy of Italy.

In the meanwhile the financial situation is alarming all those who contemplate it and this, it is hoped, may have the effect of bringing about the adoption of a policy of conciliation and economy.

BASE BALL TALK.

The Inter-State League is Doing Well, Thank You.

Arrangements for the Season are Progressing Rapidly and All the Clubs Are Getting in Shape.

A Wheeling special to the Sporting News says.

"It now appears certain that the Inter-State Base Ball league is to be a "go." For the past two weeks matters have been rather uncertain on account of the difficulty in securing grounds here in Wheeling. The magnates in the other cities said in the event of Wheeling flickering, they would abandon all efforts to organize a league. The reasons for this determination were that Wheeling is the best city in the circuit and no other town in this end of the circuit could be secured to take the Nail City's place. President McKee, of the local club, was down from Pittsburg on Mondsy and although he did not close a deal for grounds, it is pretty sure that grounds will be secured and consequently the league made a certainty. Five sites are now being considered and one will be selected before the close of the week.

"Reports from all the cities of the league are encouraging. Up at Youngstown the club is backed by the street railway company. Charles Hazen, of Akron, has been engaged as manager and has already signed six players. So once again, after many years, the home of Jimmy McAleer will have a professional team.

"New Castle, Pa, looked doubtful for a time, but the enthusiasts there got together a day or two ago and raised all the funds necessary to start the team on a good basis. 'Billy' Thompson, who managed their team last season, will probably occupy the same position this season.

"Washington, Pa, the baby town of the league, is backed by Byron D. J. McKeown, a millionaire oil magnate. Though the town is small it is thoroughly imbued with the athletic spirit. Even should the club prove a financial loss to its owner he will not object strenuously. Manager Curran, of Washington, has signed nine men and has others on his list.

"Fort Wayne people say that in the improbable event of the Inter-State organization flickering, they will head a movement to organize a league made up of Indiana and western Ohio towns.

"The league as it stands is composed of Wheeling, Washington, New Castle and Youngstown in the east, Toledo, Fort Wayne and Akron in the west. The eighth franchise will be located in Findlay, Lima, Springfield or Dayton, any one of which towns would support a club in good style. President Power is now trying to get the eighth club matter settled."

Mr. C. H. Newton, agent of the Wabash railway, will conduct a "Book Talk" to men this evening at the Railroad Department Y. M. C. A. A very pleasant and profitable time is anticipated. Admission free.

The Gospel meetings in Bethany continue to grow in influence. Fifteen or twenty arose last night when the invitation was given by Rev. Caldwell at the close of his able sermon. The last service of the series will be tonight.

Whether the big sleeves will entirely go out as the season advances is a moot question. At present some of the newest dresses have close fitting sleeves, enlarged on shoulders by upper ones plaited or frilled, while for evening quite small sleeves are made of flowers, but probably we shall learn to accustom ourselves to the diminished size by means of slashings, which in the evening will be of thin material, in the daytime, of contrasting fabric and color. The tulle slashings, imprisoning flowers, is a pretty idea, and there seems an inclination to use satin, worked with jewels, for full dress in the daytime.

CUBAN AFFAIRS.

The Spanish Minister at Washington a Busy Man.

MADRID, March 6.—As a result of the publication in Eldia that the Spanish minister at Washington had notified the government that President Cleveland would veto any Cuban resolution, a statement was made today from an authoritative source as to the extent of the information received from the minister at Washington. It shows that he has kept the government fully advised of all actual developments, but has not anticipated action in any branch. Up to the present time the minister has not informed the government that the president will veto the Cuban resolutions, nor is he informed, so far as the government knows, what the future course of the executive authorities at Washington will be. At the same time the ministry has access to the dispatches received by the news agencies at Paris, London and Madrid and some of these recent dispatches, which have been widely published throughout Europe as indicating the probable course of the administrative authorities at Washington, have borne the stamp of authenticity and are accepted as semi-official and authoritative.

They have been regarded by officials, as well as the general public, as correctly forecasting the probable course of the Washington authorities To these the Spanish minister at Washington has not added his official advice, nor has he stated that he has any assurances as to the future of the Cuban resolutions. Official advices from Havana show that Maceo has made a bold march to the north with a view to meeting Calix Garcia, who was expected to arrive with arms and ammunitions. After learning that the Garcia expedition was a failure, Maceo was unable to move eastward or to reach the southern everglades, and was compelled to move west into Havana province. It is believed that his purpose was in part a feint to prevent the reinforcements arriving at Havana from carrying out their projected movements. No uneasiness is felt at the presence of Maceo in Havana province He has failed to effect a juncture with Gomez and is 100 miles north from him.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The president said to a representative of the Associated Press this morning: "I see that it is assumed in certain quarters that a deliverance published a few days ago on the Cuban question may be taken as defining the attitude of the administration on that subject. I wish you would say that I never saw the statement nor heard of it until I read it in the newspapers, and even then neglected to read all of it, supposing it represented nothing more than newspaper gush. I do not know how it originated, nor by whom it was constructed or inspired, but I do know that I am in no manner responsible for it, nor in any way related to it I only desire to say in addition that I do not know whether the publication referred to represents the views of the administration on the Cuban question or not and that I have never found any difficulty in communicating with the people in a manner which leaves no doubt as to the authenticity of any statement purporting to represent my views."

ELOPERS DISCOVERED.

Romance in Real Life Revealed by an Arrest.

GREENSBURG, Ind., March 6.—James Goodwin, a farmer of Osgood, twenty miles south of here, was arrested on a telegram from the sheriff of Cheyenne county, Kansas, charging him with embezzlement and with eloping with another man's wife, and that his alleged wife was a Mrs. John Muir, and Miss Myrtle, the sixteen year old girl, was her daughter. Goodwin denied the charge, but the frightened woman gave the whole story away. Her father, Thomas Norton, a wealthy ranchman in Kansas, broke off her engagement to Goodwin, a cowboy, and made her marry Muir. Goodwin went west, married, struck it rich in the mines and came back. They both applied for a divorce, but were refused. He then eloped with her and her daughter, coming here about a year ago, where they have resided ever since as man and wife, although they were never married.

THE PROPOSED SHIP CANAL.

The Views of Mr. Dinwiddie As to His Route.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—About three-fourths of the population of northwestern Indiana is thoroughly aroused over the bill introduced by Congressman Hatch to secure a survey for a canal from Lake Michigan to the Wabash river, judging from the large number of letters on the subject received by members of the Indiana delegation in congress. The latest communication is from O. Dinwiddie, of Orchard Grove, representative in the state legislature from Lake county, which says:

"According to Professor Campbell's survey of the Kankakee valley, made a few years ago, the elevation at Shelby, in the south end of Lake county, is much lower than at any point east of here or near the Kankakee river, and near Leroy, on the Panhandle railroad, the watershed or divide is merely nominal, where it separates the water running north through Deep river to the lake, from Eagle creek running south, into the Kankakee river. If you should have anything to do with the route to be surveyed, please look into the route beginning near the old mouth of the Calumet river, thence running nearly due south through the valley of Eagle creek to Kankakee river. Thence a direct line might be made to Attica. I think less cutting will be needed by this route than by any one further east." Congressman Hatch will lay this letter before the committee on railways and canals.

Rice House Failed.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Dr. Talmage's sons, one of the largest houses in the rice trade, has made an assignment to J. Gila, with preferences of $14 458. The creditors of the concern number about seventy. The assignment is understood to be largely due to the low price of rice, which has been brought about by the keen competition in trade. The founder of the firm died twenty years ago.

Appointed Judge.

PHILADELPHIA, March 6.—Governor Hastings has appointed Charles B. McMichael judge of the court of common pleas No. 3, in this city, to succeed Judge Henry Reed. The new judge is the youngest son of the late Morton McMichael, once mayor of Philadelphia, and a brother of Col. Clayton McMichael, publisher of the Philadelphia North American.

Will Defend Apportionment of 1885.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 6.—At a conference here between the sub-committee of the democratic state central committee and leading democratic attorneys, it was decided that the democrats should petition the supreme court to be made parties to the republican suit against the apportionment act of 1885. It was also decided that no attempt should be made to delay the case unless it should appear that a decision could not be rendered in time to issue election writs under it. The rights of the hold over senators to seats in the legislature will be combatted in the event.

GEAR IS ACQUITTED.

First of the Alleged Bribery Trials in Ohio is Concluded.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 6.—The jury last evening returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of Senator William Gear, of Upper Sandusky, charged with soliciting a bribe from ex-Senator Chas Flummerfelt, in the Flummerfelt-Spooner contest, in 1894. This is the first of the alleged bribery trials. The other indictment against Mr. Gear will not be tried until after the cases against ex Senators Geyer, Iden and Ohl have been disposed of.

Fire at New York.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Fully $300,000 loss was caused by fire which broke out early today in the Garvin building, Laight street, York street and St. John's place. The fire was confined to the structure in which it originated, and upon which the loss is $75,000. The Garvin Machine company which manufactured bicycles, type writers and other machines, lose $175,000 and Bernard Ullman, manufacturer of embroidery, suffers to the extent of $50,000 The Garvin Machine company is fully insured.

DR. CONE RESIGNS.

Says Buchtel College is Under Too Much Sectarian Control.

AKRON, Ohio, March 6.—Dr. O. Cone resigned today as president of Buchtel college, giving as his reason that there was too much sectarian control of the institution, contrary to the desires of the founder.

NOT ARRESTED YET.

How Constable John Wise Eluded the Officers.

Divorce Case Dismissed—The News as Found in the City Courts.

The warrant for the arrest of John Wise, the ex-constable, for the embezzlement of $63 95, mention of the issue of which was made in last evening's SENTINEL, was sworn out yesterday morning at 10 o'clock and placed in the hands of the officers. Wise was in the city at that time and did not leave until 1:15 in the afternoon, which he did on the Wabash train east, leaving at that time. Six officers were on the lookout for him and most of them were at the depot at the time the train pulled out, and yet the wily constable eluded all of them and escaped. It is said that he boarded the train at the Hanna street crossing and in this way escaped arrest. John is a slick one and it is not probable that he will be arrested nor will he return to this city.

Wise secured his mileage for his trip to Toledo from Attorney Stump in order to make some collections for the lawyer at that place and he was also given money to pay his expenses. Attorney Stump knew nothing about the charges of embezzlement.

NINE WIVES IN NINE YEARS.

Remarkable Record of H. C. Wilmoth, Who Pleads Guilty in Kansas.

KANSAS CITY, Mo, March 6.—H. C. Wilmoth, going under various aliases, and who was recently arrested at Terre Haute, Ind., and taken to Kansas City, Kas., charged with bigamy, pleaded guilty. The trial developed the remarkable fact that Wilmoth had in the last nine years married nine different women, all of whom are said to be living, and that in each case he deserted them after securing their money. They live in Chicago, Duluth, St. Paul, Cincinnati and other points. Mrs. Wilmoth No. 1, formerly Miss Ora Wilkins, of Senecs, Kas, and Mrs. Wilmoth No. 2, a former Effingham, Ill, woman, appeared to prosecute the prisoner. Wilmoth had but recently been liberated from the state penitentiary after serving a five year sentence for defrauding Mrs. R. Ellison, a Kansas City woman, to whom he was married in 1890. Sentence has not been pronounced.

Senator Voorhees' Illness.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Senator Voorhees has not been in the senate chamber since his first attack of sickness several weeks ago. He is confined to his room, but is able to see callers and enjoys meeting his friends. The most serious symptom is the threatened heart failure, from which he has been a sufferer for several years He suffers considerable discomfort from muscular rheumatism.

REV. JOHN P. LLOYD.

Death of This Venerable Divine Yesterday Afternoon.

The End of a Life of Great Usefulness in the Work for the Master—Biographical Sketch.

The death of Rev. John P. Lloyd, brief mention of which was made in THE SENTINEL yesterday afternoon, has caused universal sorrow throughout the city.

Rev. Lloyd died from neuralgia of the stomach and liver. He was sick only about ten days. During his illness he suffered much from exhaustion. He was conscious to the time of his death and during the last two hours folded his hands and engaged in earnest prayer, his last words being. "Nothing in my hands I bring, simply to—" and before he could finish the sentence his spirit had flown.

Rev. Lloyd was one of the most widely known ministers of the Presbyterian church in this section. He was born in Chillecothe, Ohio, March 22, 1814. In 1839 he was licensed to preach and from that time to 1881 he was actively engaged in the ministerial work. During those years he was located at various places in Ohio, where his work was of the most zealous and earnest kind. No man ever had greater faith in the Word which he was preaching and no man was more in earnest. Rev Lloyd spent most of the years of his youth and manhood in the central part of Ohio, where he had charges and where he became widely known and popular because of his excellent character.

One of the most important works of Rev. Lloyd was done at Galion and Crestline. These towns are four miles apart. In both places Rev. Lloyd built up Presbyterian churches and for a number of years had charge of the congregations in the two towns. Later he was stationed at Crestline for about twenty years.

When a young man Rev. Lloyd was married to Miss Reed, daughter of the late Rev. John Reed, Indiana, Pa., who was his faithful companion through all the remaining years of his life and who survives him.

In 1881 Rev. Lloyd was compelled, on account of his failing health, to give up active ministerial work. The infirmities of advanced age were telling on him. Upon his retirement he came to Fort Wayne, where he spent the remainder of his days. During his residence here he has not been entirely out of the work for the Master, but on numerous occasions he has occupied the pulpit in the various Presbyterian churches in this city and in churches throughout this presbytery. He was a profound theologian, a great scholar and an able speaker. This ability coupled with his deep earnestness in the gospel work made him one of the best known ministers in northern Indiana.

For some time past Rev. Lloyd was confined to his home and it was known that his illness could not but terminate fatally. His death occurred yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at his home on East Berry street. In his last moments he was surrounded by his family and his death was peaceful, in keeping with the pure, good and peaceful life which was ebbing away.

In the death of Rev. Lloyd, the city loses a citizen like whom there are not many, the church loses one of its shining lights and a pure soul goes to its reward.

The honorary pall bearers have been selected as follows and are elders of the churches: O P. Morgan, J W. Cromwell Frederick Antrup, O. B. Fitch, F. M. Smaltz.

The funeral services will take place Monday morning, at 10 o'clock, from the house, No 141 East Berry street On Sunday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, there will be a union memorial service held in the First Presbyterian church Addresses will be made by Dr. Moffat, Rev Leeper, Dr. Boggs, Rev. Davies and Rev. Zartman. Singing by the different church choirs. This is to be a union meeting and all of the friends of Dr. Lloyd and family are invited.

DR. C. B. STEMEN

May be Lay Delegate to the M. E. General Conference.

The north Indiana M. E conference, which meets at Richmond this month, will select a lap delegate to the general conference of the church, which meets in May at Cleveland, and among the candidates for the honor is Dr. C. B. Stemen, of this city. Dr. Stemen is a member of the Berry street congregation.

At 3 o'clock this morning occurred the death of Mrs. Mary Houlihan, wife of John Houlihan, sr., at the family residence, No. 93 West Williams street. Death was due to heart failure. The deceased was born in Gallney, county Kerry, Ireland, and was sixty-six years of age. She came to the United States and settled in Chicopee, Mass, and lived there until 1864 when, with her husband and family she came to Fort Wayne She was a resident of this city for thirty two years She leaves a husband and six children, Michael J., John, jr., Johanna Thomas, James and Bridget Two brothers are living in Massachusetts. The funeral will be held at St. Patrick's church at 1:30 Sunday afternoon, leaving the house a half hour earlier.

FUNERALS.

The funeral of the late Owen McGuire was held at the Cathedral this morning. It was very largely attended, Mr. McGuire having been one of the highly respected citizens of Fort Wayne.

The funeral of Harry, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hudgel, was held this forenoon at the residence on West Jefferson street, Rev. J. A. Ainslie conducting the services.

MISS CLARA BARTON.

Let Her Travel in Armenia and Distribute Relief.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 6.—The Turkish foreign minister has renewed to United States Minister Terrell, in the presence of Miss Clara Barton, president of the American Red Cross society, the government's promises to permit Miss Barton and her assistants to travel in Armenia and distribute relief. It is now known that although an imperial irade was drawn up authorizing Miss Barton to distribute relief to the Armenian sufferers, and was at first approved by the sultan, it was afterwards withdrawn by his majesty, while thousands of persons were suffering from cold and famine

THE CITY HALL.

Affairs as They Have Happened Over There.

Police Court—To Enforce the Vehicle Tax Law—Pretty Flowers—The Everett Ordinance.

Charles Sheridan and Patrick Sullivan, drunks, were sent to jail from police court this morning. Albert Schanz, a young man who had escaped from a reform school in Pennsylvania, and who came to this city and secured employment at the Reformed Orphans home, was taken up on the charge of vagrancy. It was learned from the story he told that he had worked his way west from Pennsylvania by doing some petty stealing, therefore Superintendent Rettig, of the home, did not want to risk keeping him about the place. The mayor sent him to jail and the Pennsylvania authorities will be notified of his capture.

MILKMEN AND BRICKMEN.

Mayor Oakley informed THE SENTINEL this morning that since the recent decision of the supreme court on the vehicle tax law he intends to compel all brick haulers and milkmen who use the streets of this city to come in and take out vehicle licenses. He says the supreme court decision leaves no loophole through which they can escape and he will see to it now that the law is enforced.

PRETTY FLOWERS

Park Superintendent Doswell called to the city hall this morning with a number of pretty tulips in full bloom. They were the product of some bulbs which the city purchased last fall and they were grown in the green house of the north side park. They were left in the office of the board of public works.

ABOUT THE POLE TAX

The Consolidated Electric railway has made inquiries at the office of the city comptroller regarding the manner in which the chart should be made which will show the location of their poles in the city. The company has not yet said that it intended to pay the pole tax, but this is taken as an indication that it will do so. Charts have been filed by the Central Union Telephone company, the gas company and the Western Union.

THE EVERETT FRANCHISE.

City Attorney Ninde said this morning that the Everett street railroad franchise had not yet been completed, but he is still working on it. Mayor Oakley said it would be ready for the council at the next meeting on next Tuesday night

FOUND A BODY.

Wallace street people are excited over the finding of the body of a still born infant in a vault at No. 103 on that street. Coroner Harrod and the officers are making an investigation. It is presumed that the body of the infant was placed in the vault last Sunday by two women who were seen in the outbuilding. The women were heavily veiled and were not recognized. The house at No. 103 Wallace street has been unoccupied for some time.

GRATIFYING RESULTS.

Interesting Experiments with the New Stomach Remedy.

The results of recent investigation, have established, beyond question, the great value of the new preparation for indigestion and stomach troubles; it is composed of the digestive acids, pepsin, bismuth, Golden Seal and similar stomachics, prepared in the form of 20 grain lozenges, pleasant to the taste, convenient to carry when traveling, harmless to the most delicate stomach, and probably the safest, most effectual cure yet discovered for indigestion, sour stomach, loss of appetite and flesh, nausea, sick headaches, palpitation of heart, and the many symptoms arising from imperfect digestion of food. They cure because they cause the food to be promptly and thoroughly digested before it has time to ferment and poison the blood and nervous system.

Judge Frank Ives, of District Court of Crookston, Minn., says: For some time I have used Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets with seeming great benefit, with few exceptions, I have not been so free from indigestion in twenty-five years.

Geo. W. Reed, U. S. Consul to Brussels, Belgium: Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, safe, pleasant to take, convenient to carry, give keen appetite, perfect digestion.

Mr. W. D. Tomlin, Newspaper Reporter, Duluth, Minn.: One box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets has done its work, and I am again gaining flesh and strength.

O. Z. Ransom, Hustonville, Ky.: I was distressed and annoyed for two years with throwing up food, often two or three times a day; had no certainty of retaining a meal if I ate one. Four boxes of the tablets drove my druggist, Hardy Craig, cured me. I find them pleasant to take, convenient to carry.

Rev. G. D. Brown, Monfort, Wis.: The effect of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is simply marvellous; a quite hearty dinner of broiled beef steak causes no distress since I began their use.

Over six thousand people in the state of Michigan alone in 1894 were cured of stomach troubles by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

The democrats should put forward their very best men as candidates for councilmen in the different wards of the city.

The return of Dr. Nansan from the north pole is certified to by Peter Ivanowitch Knuchnareff. This ought to remove all doubt.

If there ever was a time in the history of Fort Wayne when the democrats should make no mistake in regard to their selection of a candidate for mayor, it is this year.

It takes Kentucky an awful long while to elect a senator. The dead lock in their legislature is a strong argument for an election of United States senators by a direct vote of the people.

There will be music in the air tomorrow afternoon when the republicans of this city hold their caucuses to select delegates to their district convention. The candidates for delegate to the national convention are waging a bitter fight.

The death of Rev. Dr. Lloyd, which occurred yesterday, removes one of the best known ministers in northern Indiana. He was a man of unblemished character, earnest Christian zeal, and had done a great work for the church. Few men were more highly esteemed or more universally beloved.

An innovation in the school holiday of the week—changing it from Saturday to Monday—although quite common in the east, has recently found lodgment in the west. The plan is now in operation in Butler university and is about to be put in operation in Franklin college. The change is claimed to make a better observance of Sabbath, as the students do not spend the day in the preparation of their lessons. What does the Fort Wayne school board think of such a change?

If Mr. Cleveland firmly decides that he does not care for a fourth nomination and a third term, the influence he wields will probably have a great deal to do with the final outcome of the balloting for a presidential candidate at the Chicago convention. It has been known for months that if Mr. Cleveland finally decides that he does not care to enter the race again, that the great influence he wields as president of the United States upon the office holders that he has appointed that either his present secretary of state or the man he has placed at the head of the treasury department will be his choice.

If the Kentucky legislature should adjourn, as now seems likely, without electing a successor to Senator Blackburn, Governor Bradley will not be able to fill the vacancy by appointment. The senate has established a precedent that the governor of a state has no authority to fill a vacancy which results from a failure of the legislature to elect Montana, Washington and Wyoming sent three men to Washington with credentials of this kind in their pockets, but they were not permitted to take their seats, as they had been appointed in each instance after the respective legislatures had failed to elect. Governor Bradley can call the Kentucky legislature together in extra session if he wishes to do so, but there is no occasion for any haste. Mr. Blackburn's term will not expire until March 4, 1897.

European Fears.

Europe does not like the prospect of American intervention in Cuba. Europe cannot be expected to like it. In Paris alone five hundred million dollars' worth of Cuban bonds are held, all of which would become worthless paper as soon as Cuba gained her independence.

The European papers call attention to the fact that the north raised a howl at the prospect of European recognition of the south. Of course it did, and of course Spain howls now. But the conditions are not the same. The south was trying to disrupt a united nation and to perpetuate the crime of slavery. The patriots of Cuba are striving for national freedom.

The parallel must be drawn, not on the war of the rebellion, but on that of the revolution, when the American people were fighting for freedom, and when France took up the cause of the patriots and recognized them as a nation, just as the United States are about to do in regard to Cuba.

It is absurd for the Europeans to say that the Cuban insurgents have done nothing to merit recognition as belligerents. If defying proud Spain, holding her armies in check for a year, conquering nine tenths of the island, organizing and maintaining a republican government and taxing to the limit every resource of her vainglorious oppressor be not enough to make these patriots belligerents in the broadest sense of the word, then what is?

It takes the Europeans a long time to learn that the United States are not bluffing, but they will learn it soon—even if we should have to administer a "licking" to some one.

By Roentgen's Rays.

One of the results of the new photographic discovery by Dr. Roentgen is that a letter can be photographed through its envelope, and the contents read with as much ease as though the seal had been broken. This experiment has been successfully made by several members of the staff of the Gaulois at Paris and a telegram from that city has the following about it:

"In the course of experiments made with the assistance of M. Denis Lance, docteures sciences, and M. de Bouillane, a skilled photographer, our contemporary claims to have made a new discovery, of which more will be said later. On Saturday these experiments were being explained to M. Alexandre Hepp, when he exclaimed:

"'Why, then, you will be able to photograph letters through their envelopes?'

"'Just so!' was the reply, though at that time it was unknown whether such a thing was possible.

"The result of the conversation was that M. Hepp handed over one of several letters which he had just written, and in less than half an hour received a negative which distinctly showed his handwriting.

"This is not possible, however, with all kinds of paper and all kinds of ink, says the Gaulois. But only fifteen seconds are necessary to photograph the contents of a letter written upon the paper of the chamber of deputies or of the senate and inclosed in an envelope of the same paper. However, several sheets of paper wrapped round the letter would make photography very difficult, if not impossible. It has been found that a paper wrapped in tinfoil can not be photographed.

Warning the Liquor Traffic.

(New Albany Tribune.)

Some people are exceedingly short-sighted and none of them more so than the saloon keepers of Indiana and perhaps of the whole country. Knowing as they must that there is a strong and earnest body of people opposed to their existence, it would seem that their true policy would be to avoid rousing that hostility to action. But their course generally has been one of open defiance of the conscientious opinion of a great many excellent people. It ought to be said, for it is the truth, that most of the embarassments in which they find themselves frequently involved, they bring upon themselves.

If the saloon keepers as a mass should unite in the purpose to remove the larger evils of their business, should submit cheerfully to the restraints of the law, should render due obedience to every requirement of every legislative enactment, they would find their road a much less hard one to travel than it is. Suppose there had been a universal observance of the provisions of the last general laws prior to 1895, there would not have been a strong and powerful movement for additional legislation.

If the law as it stood and stands now had been faithfully obeyed, if every saloon in Indiana had been closed on legal holidays, on election days, on Sundays, and in the hours of the night after the time fixed by the law, fast closed up so that no one could enter, if they had always refused to sell liquor to minors and to men in the habit of becoming intoxicated, if they had always preserved the peace absolutely, kept hard characters off their premises, suppressed gambling and other vices therein, had refused to permit their places of business to become resorts for anarchists and places for criminal conspiracies to be hatched; if they had been in all respects law-abiding and maintained law and order within their precincts, there would never have been a Nicholson law, an enactment whose sole purpose, with one exception, was to make it possible to enforce existing law.

And still, blindly, the law with its Nicholson supplement is violated every day in the year and wrath gathers greater head against the traffic. There is a fairly respectable body of fairly respectable people who cannot understand why a man who runs a saloon should be permitted to violate the law when others are required to obey it.

ARCHBISHOP KENRICK.

His Death Removes a Prominent Catholic Prelate.

Peter Richard Kenrick, whose death occurred last Wednesday, at St. Louis, was for nearly half a century the Catholic archbishop of that diocese. He was 88 years of age and had been in very feeble health for several years.

With the possible exception of John Ireland of St. Paul, no other archbishop of the Roman Catholic church in America has attracted more notice than Peter Richard Kenrick.

When Archbishop Kenrick began his administration St. Louis was a town of 20,000 inhabitants, and had two Catholic churches—the Cathedral, built in 1834, and a little Jesuit chapel. The diocese now contains over 360 churches, twenty-five stations and a Catholic population of over 350,000. At the time of his appointment as bishop of Drasa the diocese of St. Louis comprised Missouri, Arkansas and the western end of Illinois, and the bishop was compelled to travel on horseback or in wagons or stages over this immense territory, which has since been divided.

In the vatican he was a strong opponent of the doctrine of the infallibility of the pope, and had it not been for this opposition, it is said that the archbishop would have been made a cardinal.

He introduced into his diocese many religious societies that now control scores of schools and other institutions, many of them charitable. He laid out the cemetery of St. Louis. He was an author and had written several works of recognized merit.

MARVIN KUHNS.

The Noted Bandit's Habits in the Ohio Penitentiary.

(Cincinnati Enquirer.)

One of the most remarkable prisoners in the Columbus penitentiary is Marvin Kuhns, the celebrated outlaw, serving a life term for the murder of his pal at Tiffin five years ago. The wounds Kuhns received from the revolver of Deputy Sheriff Wilkinson, when he was captured near Fort Wayne, Ind., were at first supposed to be fatal, but Kuhns recovered. He still carries several bullets in his body, but experiences no inconvenience from them, and it is safe to say that were there to be a championship contest in the manly art at the prison, Kuhns could knock out any convict in the institution.

He is six feet in height, as straight as an arrow, powerfully muscled and as agile as a professional athlete. When the prisoners are marched to and from their meals or their work through the spacious yard within the walls, it is Kuhn's duty to lead one of the companies. He marches at the head of his company with all the dignity of a soldier, instead of indicating any inclination to hang his head and skulk past the gaze of the spectators. His head is thrown back, his carriage is graceful, his striped clothes are neatly brushed, his heavy prison shoes are polished and his cap of black and white is worn with the jaunty air of the fearless, daring bandit that he is. The class of women who find pleasure in visiting the penitentiary and indulging in sentimental talk over the convicts, invariably find an object of admiration in Marvin Kuhns.

THE GENIUS OF WISCONSIN.

Typified In a Heroic Statue by Miss Nellie Mears.

There is an interesting story connected with a piece of sculpture which is almost completed in a New York studio and which is soon to be sent to Madison, Wis., there to be erected on the state capitol building. It was designed by Miss Nellie Mears of Oshkosh, a young woman who is not yet in her twentieth year. She sent the design to the World's fair, where it took the second prize. It was her first attempt, but its artistic qualities at once attracted attention and won for her the commission for a heroic statue for the Wisconsin state building.

MISS MEARS.

The statue represents a beautiful young woman, draped in an American flag, standing with uplifted face and caressing an eagle which perches just above her shoulder on a rock against which she is leaning. The bird of freedom is an idealization of "Old Abe," the historic eagle which perched on the colors of a Wisconsin regiment during the civil war, and which was captured and cared for with tender solicitude in the statehouse for years afterward. The title of the statue is "The Genius of Wisconsin" and is an admirable conception, executed with much skill if not genius. It is said that Miss Mears had never seen a statue when she made her design, but she has seen many since and bids fair to become one of the most successful of the younger school of sculptors.

Her first success gained for her the notice of Augustus St. Gaudens, the famous New York sculptor, and at his invitation she worked in his studios for more than a year. She was engaged during that time in working on the Logan statue. A short time ago she sailed for Paris, with a letter from Mr. St. Gaudens to Mr. MacMonnies, recommending her to his care as one of the strongest pupils he had ever had. Miss Mears was accompanied by Miss Dodd of Madison, and she will study abroad for two years. When she returns, she expects to settle in New York.

The ladies of the Congregational church will serve a supper from 6 o'clock to 8, in the parlors of the church this evening. An entertainment consisting of Mrs. Jarley's wax works will be given.

Attention Democrats.

The democrats of Allen county are requested to meet on Saturday, March 28th, 1896, in townships outside of city from 2 till 4 o'clock p m, and wards in the city from 4 to 7 p m. at the usual places of holding primary elections in the several townships and wards for the purpose of electing 99 delegates to the congressional convention to be held at Kendallville, Tuesday, April 7th, 1896, and the same number of delegates to the joint senatorial convention, between Whitley and Allen counties, to be held at a time to be hereafter fixed.

In said convention each township and ward will be entitled to the following number of delegates to each convention:

TOWNSHIPS.
Aboit	1	Maumee	1

HORTICULTURISTS TO MEET.

A Horticultural Society to be Organized In This City.

A meeting will be held at the city greenhouse in the North Side park at 2:30 Sunday afternoon for the purpose of organizing a horticultural society. The project is in the hands of the Fort Wayne florists. Anyone who is interested in the growing of plants and flowers is eligible to membership and already over forty persons have signified their intention to become members. It will be purely horticultural. It is the intention to hold annual flower shows in the city after the organization has been completed.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

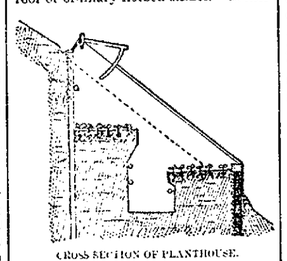
If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

FARM AND GARDEN

CHEAP PLANTHOUSES.

How to Build and How to Heat Them. The Best Location.

Many gardeners would like to have greenhouse privileges, but fear the expense of building and heating one. There is a constant demand for plans of "cheap" houses. On a level and unprotected surface nothing cheaper or simpler can be put up than a little forcing pit, the plant beds of which are on the natural surface, with the walks or paths sunk 18 inches or 2 feet into the ground and the whole covered with a roof of ordinary hotbed sashes. A hillside facing south or southeast offers a still better site and chance for the erection of a cheap planthouse. Thus writes T. Greiner, who furnishes in American Gardening illustrations giving a cross section of such a house and a general view of it. The situation affords the very best possible protection, and the heating can be done in a very economical manner. Proper provision will have to be made for draining the surface water from the hill off to one side. A little shanty built cheaply but warmly at one (the west) end of the planthouse serves as a furnace and potting room. Concerning the heating of a planthouse the same authority says:



CROSS SECTION OF PLANTHOUSE.

When a house or pit is used only for plant growing toward spring, and closest economy has to be practiced, the heating might be done by means of a double flue, the fireplace being in the shanty, and the return flue placed upon the other and ending in the chimney almost directly above the fireplace. The draft has to be adjusted in such a manner that a direct connection can be had from the fireplace to the chimney, to be open when fire is first started and then closed and the connection made with the flues. Fire will only be needed during the night, and perhaps a very little of it on cloudy days. The hot water method, however, will be found much more convenient even then, and surely by far the best and really only satisfactory plan when the house is to be used for forcing winter vegetables. It will surely pay big interest for the investment to put in one of the hot water heaters now made and advertised by various firms. I cannot tell you which of all of them is the best. Probably there is little difference. They all can be depended on to give good service if you will get the proper size. The manufacturers will be willing enough to advise you as to the size required to heat your planthouse.

GENERAL VIEW OF PLANTHOUSE.

The problem of heating a small planthouse is simplified where natural gas (in some cases even the ordinary illuminating gas) can be had. We might then dispense with a regular heater, and just bring the heating flame to bear upon a coil of pipe connecting with the heating pipe system. Of course the coil is inside of a fireplace of brick or inclosed with a sheet iron jacket. That there must be an expansion tank connecting with the highest point in the pipe system to furnish some pressure and the necessary quantity of water for circulation, and to provide for waste by evaporation, need hardly be specially mentioned. For the gardener who is trying to make a living by raising and selling garden truck a good greenhouse or plant pit is an absolute necessity.

One Way to Save Money.

During the winter many conveniences and necessary farm tools and implements may be made in the home workhouse. Hayracks, wagon beds, swing gates, water troughs and tanks, sleds, tool racks, stalk rakes, chicken coops, shipping crates and berry boxes are simple in construction. Any bright farmer, with the assistance of a blacksmith, can make all of these and more. The expense will be much less than if bought in town or hired made. The tools which every well regulated farm ought to possess will answer. We have in mind a young farmer who does all this kind of work, and he is prospering in spite of hard times, cheap products, etc. He raises as much grain and stock as his neighbors who buy everything "ready" made, and has much more "ready" cash. Try your hand at it when the weather prevents outside work, advises The New England Homestead.

Experiments In Corn Culture.

Field experiments with corn reported from the Utah station by A. A. Mills consisted of tests of varieties of thick and thin planting and of detasseling. Of the varieties grown three years the common white flint of the locality gave the largest average yield. Thick and thin planting gave almost identical results. Every alternate row of corn was detasseled. These rows gave a smaller yield than the alternate rows not detasseled.

RED KAFFIR CORN.

The Most Valuable Nonsaccharion Sorghum For Poor, Dry Soils—Cultural Notes.

Kaffir corn, one of the many nonsaccharino sorghums, is attracting attention in many widely separated parts of the country, and notably those sections where drought is liable to prevail. Following are extracts of interest on this subject from an article on sorghums by F. B. Burtis and published in a Kansas state board of agriculture report:

White Kaffir corn is one of the early introduced varieties of the nonsaccharine sorts. The plant grows short and stalky, and has short joints covered with large and numerous leaves. At maturity the stalks are quite dry and pithy. The seed tops grow erect, are long and slender and bear white seed. If dry weather checks this variety, the seed tops do not push out of the sheath, and the lower part molds and the grain is worthless. Under ordinary conditions this variety yields from 40 to 50 bushels of grain per acre and a fair yield of fodder, but the stalks are mostly refused by stock.

Red Kaffir was introduced at the Kansas station in 1889. It differs from the white fodder in that it grows taller and more slender and is much more juicy and sweeter. The seed differs in color and is somewhat smaller and harder. At the station it outyields the white in grain and fodder, and matures somewhat earlier, and we consider it superior in all respects. Of all varieties red Kaffir corn is the most valuable for farmers in general. It combines a large yield of fodder with the largest yield of grain, and is of a growth suitable to economical harvesting. Stock eat the fodder with a relish, and the feeding value of the grain is excelled by none. It stands dry weather as well, and does better on poor soil than any other. But it will respond well to good soil and plenty of moisture. After a variety has been selected an important point is to keep it pure, which will take some care if several kinds are raised in the same field.

Sorghum requires warm weather to develop it. The mistake is often made of planting it too early. Before or not later than corn was the practice a few years ago. Generally the result of this was a very poor stand. The seed should never be planted until the ground is thoroughly warm. Shallow planting will help the germination much; half as deep as for corn is a good depth. The early growth is very slow and the plants tender; hence the necessity of having the ground free from weeds at time of planting.

A great advantage of the sorghums over corn for forage is that they admit of close planting. Sorghums will admit of close drilling and produce a full grain crop, and, with thick seeding, will make excellent hay. As a hay crop a yield of two to four tons per acre is not unusual. For this the quantity of seed sown per acre should be varied somewhat to suit the conditions, but in most cases if broadcasted one bushel will be sufficient, and if drilled three pecks. Put on enough seed to make the plants small and fine; the yield will be about as much and can be handled much easier and better. The best plan is to plant thick enough to make good, fine hay without any thought of the grain.

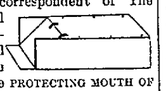
If grain is wanted, drill the rows far enough apart to admit of cultivation, so as to produce the largest yield of grain. At the experiment station we find to give the maximum yield of grain the rows should not be farther apart than 3 feet and may be as close as 2½, and the stalks should be from 4 to 6 inches apart in the row. The above applies to such a variety as red Kaffir corn, as in rich soil some of the ranker growing sorts will lodge when planted so close.

The Maple Sap Flow.

According to A. H. Wood of the New Hampshire experiment station the flow of maple sap is largely dependent upon the depth of the tapping. According to his three years' experiments the theory that all or nearly all the sap comes from the outside wood is erroneous. He makes it appear that the additional injury to the tree by deep tapping is very slight, especially if the hole is small. Where a three-eighths inch bit is used and the bark practically uninjured the majority of the holes will be grown over the first summer after tapping. The amount of flow from the north and south sides of trees was investigated, and it was found that under equal conditions the common practice of tapping on the south side of trees is to be preferred.

Protecting Tile Drains.

An Indiana correspondent of The Farm Journal gives the following illustrated description of an arrangement he now employing to keep the mouths of tile drains free from obstructions:



PROTECTING MOUTH OF TILE DRAIN.

He uses two inch cross lumber, the width being governed by size of tile. Cut bottom board 3 feet 2 inches, and top 2 feet 6 inches, and sides a proper length so as to give the door, which hangs from the top, a good slant. Door must work freely. Slip box over the tile and stake down firmly.

Odd Mention.

It was told at a meeting of Illinois horticulturists that a mixture of soft soap and copperas, applied with a whitewash brush, will keep out borers. Soapsuds to which a handful of copperas is added, if poured about the base of peach trees, will kill grubs.

The Prairie Farmer advocates rye for early pasture to the farmer of the northern states.

Iowa has come to be a great dairy state, which fact is shown not only by the large output of butter, but by the stringent laws against bogus dairy products and the effort to secure a first class article.

A National Hymn.

Our faith and hope! Our joy and pride!
America, we hail thee!
With thee shall Liberty abide;
Thy sons shall never fail thee;
From north to south, from east to west,
One law, one flag, one nation;
The love that fills each patriot breast
Shall be thy firm foundation.

CHORUS.
Home of the free,
Let land and sea
Sing thy inspiring story.
While, brave and bright,
Thy flag of light
Floats in the van of glory.

The stars that from thy banner shine
Enkindle Freedom's beacon,
To all the world a sacred sign,
A flame that cannot weaken;
A flame that o'er Atlantic burns,
That gilds the orient ocean,
Wherever man for Freedom yearns,
His symbol of devotion.

Republic that no hate divides,
United in affection,
A hemisphere in thee confides
And claims thy strong protection.
And should the just occasion come,
Stand, freemen, calm and steady;
The bugle blast, the tap of drum,
Shall find Columbia ready.

For tyrannies and kingships all
The passing bell is tolling.
O nations, hear Columbia's call!
For ye the world is rolling.
Red for the rulers ye have made,
The puppets of your power.
Rise, freemen, strong and unafraid;
The planet is your dower.

Sublime republic, unto thee
Is given a holy mission,
To lead the legions of the free
To better man's condition.
In this thy glory we rejoice;
Thy sons shall never fail thee.
Beloved land, with heart and voice,
America, we hail thee!

STORIES OF THE DAY.

Remarkable Weather Phenomena Happening In These Days.

A curious phenomenon occurred at Hartford the other night, resulting from a high wind and a slight fall of moist snow on an icy surface. The wind caught the snow and rolled it up into thousands of snowballs. Hundreds of balls were whirled up and sent rolling along, gathering snow at each turn and each leaving its marked trail behind. The wide slope of land surrounding Trinity college was one field of rolling snowballs. Dr. Samuel Hart thus describes the phenomenon:

"The rotary wind flaw catches the snow and rolls it up like a muff in cylindrical form. Most that I saw were about eight inches wide and eight inches in diameter, hollowed at the two ends. They are in effect isosceles triangles of snow rolled up on the vertex."

The same phenomenon occurred about 12 years ago. Some of the wind made snowballs were as large as half barrels.

Chicago was visited by a most singular meteorological phenomenon a few nights since. Black snow, yellow snow and brown snow fell in bluiding clouds over the entire city, and reports from suburban towns brought the news that the varicolored storm was not an exclusive Chicago production.

The chief of the weather bureau at Washington says:

"The black snow that has lately fallen in Chicago and the northwest is similar to the great fall of January, 1895, the nature of which was thoroughly investigated by the weather bureau at that time. Notwithstanding the theoretical suggestion that the black deposit on last January might have come from beyond the earth and might be meteoric or cometic, or might even be the volcanic dust from Alaska or Japan, careful investigation showed that it was due to none of these causes.

"On the contrary, microscopic examination proved that the black deposit contained about 4 per cent of the most delicate organic structures (such as diatoms and spores) and about 96 per cent of the finest possible inorganic matter, such as makes up the ordinary fine silt and clay soils. All this fine material is easily caught up by the dry winds whenever they exceed 20 miles per hour and is carried to great distances before it settles on the ground. It is easily brought down in large quantities by snow or rain, but is only perceived by the ordinary observer where there is a clean surface of snow for it to fall upon. Large portions of country from Nebraska southward to the gulf are covered by this fine soil, whose depth sometimes is 100 feet. A gale of wind has been known to carry away six inches of the surface soil from a freshly cultivated field and spread it over the land 100 miles away. The blackness is due to the fineness of the silt and not to any magnetic iron."—New York Sun.

The last few days, whenever snow has fallen in Salt Lake City, a white sediment has been left wherever the snow touched. There has been much speculation as to the actual cause; the local scientists have been and are now divided upon that point. There are those who insist that the sediment was taken up from the bosom of Great Salt Lake. There are others who believe the deposit is sulphate of soda, which is thrown up on the shores of Great Salt Lake during the winter by the action of the cold weather on the briny waters. Be that as it may, the houses facing north, the street car windows and every piece of glass exposed has become incrusted. Pedestrians who happened to be out in the storm did not notice anything out of the way until their clothing dried, when it was discerned that the apparel was liberally sprinkled with what appeared to be salt. The deposit is of a saline nature. That was discovered by the application of the tongue.

It is a phenomenon that frequently occurs in Salt Lake City, and especially during the winter season, but a good deal of work was necessary to remove the stains left on the windows. There has not been a snowstorm within the last ten days when the deposit of the sediment has not occurred. The savants are still guessing.—Chicago Chronicle.

A remarkable phenomenon was witnessed at Chicago the other night for which the United States signal service can offer no solution or reason. It was a dust storm which prevailed until far in the night in the midst of a snowstorm. Everything touched was besmeared with a dark brown substance, which was clearly dirt of some sort, but just what no one was able to say.

This dust storm began about 20 minutes to 7 o'clock and was at first rather violent, the wind being strong, but after an hour or so subsided somewhat. Reports from southern Wisconsin, eastern Iowa and western Indiana show that the storm also prevailed there.

In some of the places where the storm prevailed the brown dust covered the snow to the depth of an eighth of an inch.—New York Herald.

A remarkable atmospheric phenomenon occurred early the other morning over the ocean near Cape May. The frosty air there was filled for some 20 feet deep with ice crystals, the frozen evaporation of the warmer water of the sea. All the fleecy, flaky characteristics of drifting snow were present. On this bank the shipping of the offing seemed to glide in and out of the bay like figures on a mimic stage.

The sun had ascended some 30 degrees above the horizon before the novel sight disappeared by the melting of this attenuated snow bank. Seamen note such occurrences in the gulf stream, where the warm water of the ocean is evaporated and frozen near its surface on frosty mornings when the air is still.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Here Answered with Good Sound Reason.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

Why do people say that Lydia E. Pinkham's treatment, especially her Vegetable Compound, effects cures beyond the physician's skill?

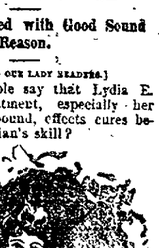
Because of the fact that a woman best understands a woman's ills. What man ever suffered a single pang like unto woman? Man works from theory only.

Why do tens of thousands of women write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., telling their most secret thoughts?

Because they know that their letters go straight to the hands of a woman, are opened, read, and answered by a woman, who as a woman has made woman's ills a life study, and because she never fails them, and cures cases which the doctor cannot.

The lady who asks that the following letter be published, gives concisely the uniform expression of gratitude contained in thousands of other letters in Mrs. Pinkham's possession.

"For eight years I suffered with neuralgia of the womb, backache, severe pains all through my body, and kidney trouble. None of the doctors did me any good. I took twelve bottles of your Vegetable Compound, and cannot thank you enough for the relief I found.



"I am now well once of all those pains. I should advise every woman to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound who has any female trouble. I had a friend who was to go under an operation. I advised her first to try the Compound. She did, and is now so much better and stronger she has given up all thoughts of the operation." — MRS. M. WILDE, 2137 Park St., Tioga, Pa.

SHOP AND RAIL.

The Bass Works Preparing to Test Car Axles.

Some Changes in the Freight Department of the Wabash—Office and Shop Gossip.

A tower and machinery for testing car axles will be erected by the Bass Foundry and Machine works on Virginia street, opposite the blacksmith shop, next week. The tower will be equipped with machinery for hoisting an iron which will weigh 1,600 pounds and when the piece reaches a height of forty or fifty feet it will become detached from the chain and fall to the bottom of the shaft, where it will strike the axles. The axle which survives this test will be considered perfect, while those bent, cracked or otherwise injured will be sent back to the shop to be hammered out anew.

CHANGES ON THE WABASH.

The official announcement of the following changes in the freight department of the Wabash road has just been made:

John D. Lund, assistant general freight agent, has been transferred from St. Louis to Kansas City, with his present title, and will have charge of all freight traffic matters west of the latter city.

Philip W. Coyle will take Mr. Lund's place at St Louis, and Walter H. Wylie will succeed Mr. Coyle as commercial freight agent at St. Louis. Mr. Coyle is a frequent visitor here and is quite well known all over the Wabash system.

MINOR NOTES

Nickel Plate Conductor Kitselman is enjoying a few days' rest.

Al. Mercer, of the Bass blacksmith shop, has a very sick baby.

Ed. Driftmeyer is now working in the punch department at the electric works.

Frank Huxley, D. T. McFee and George Cooper, Nickel Plate conductors, have been taking a few days' rest.

J. T. Wann, auditor of the Erie Railway company, has had his jurisdiction extended to include the Chicago and Erie.

William Mosher has returned from Grand Rapids, where he was called a week ago to attend the funeral of his sister. He is employed in the electric works.

Theodore Tagtmeyer, Bruce Congdon and Charles Stellhorn have taken positions in the sheetiron department of the electric works.

J. P. Robinson has been appointed road foreman of engines on the E & A. division of the Pennsylvania, vice Frank Ray, resigned.

Conductor and Mrs. Brumbaugh went to Chicago yesterday, to remain a week, the guest of friends. Brumbaugh Mr. is employed on the Nickel Plate.

Charles A. Beach, superintendent of the Buffalo division of the Lehigh Valley, has resigned and Lucas Van Allen has been appointed acting superintendent of that division.

Nickel Plate engine 6 was turned out of the Stony Island shops yesterday and has gone into service on the Third district in charge of Engineer A. Dresbach and Fireman C. Hue.

A Lorain county man has sued the Cleveland, Lorain and Wheeling for $10,000 damages. When he worked in the company's shops at Lorain he claims to have got into a draught which ruined his health.

Indianapolis Journal: "For nearly ten years Patrick Finley, an engineer on the Pennsylvania, has been drawing on an average $24 per month from the Pennsylvania Voluntary Relief fund. Being unable to work on account of disability, he appreciates the Relief association."

Ex-Trainmaster Cyrus Sissler has so far recovered from his recent paralytic stroke that he expects on the first of the month to take his old run on the Wabash as conductor between Toledo and Tilton. Mr. Sissler had the opportunity, a few months ago, to read his obituary, which was published on a rumor that he was dead.

The directors of the Nickel Plate on Tuesday declared a 5 per cent. dividend on its preferred stock.

Trainmaster C. E. Wells and his chief clerk, T. E. Sullivan, of the Wabash, were here several hours yesterday.

Edward H. Witte, a Wabash employe, has been transferred from the freight house to the machine shop.

Machinist Louis Seibt, of the Bass works, is suffering with the grip and will not be able to work for a few days.

Peter J. LaBeck, of the Bass machine shop, has taken a two weeks' vacation, which he will spend in the west.

A. Sine, L. Sweeney and J. Stuart, Pittsburg engineers, who were off duty several days for various reasons, reported for work this morning.

J. E. Meyers, an employe of the Wabash shops, has gone to Springfield, Ill., to be treated by the company's specialist for inflammation of the eyes

Samuel Wass, jr., has resigned a positian at the factory of Rhinesmith & Simonson and taken one with the Haswell Chair and Manufacturing company.

Blacksmith Terrence Martin laid off today to attend the funeral of his old friend, Frederick Beulow, which occurred from Zion's Lutheran church this morning.

Dealers are receiving their stock of fishing tackle, a sure sign that spring will be upon us inside a month. A large consignment of fish poles arrived at the Wabash freight house this morning.

The case of Heeter vs. the Wabash company, which was to commence in Toledo yesterday, has been continued until the next term of court and will not come up for trial until some time in September.

While the citizens of Elwood are enthused over a rumor that the Panhandle shops at Logansport are to be removed to Elwood, basing the belief on the fact that Panhandle officials are interested in property there, the company is contemplating considerably enlarging the shops at Logansport as a result of the recent visit of General Manager Loree and General Superintendent Miller to that city.

Compressed air as a power has displaced steam in three departments of the Pullman Palace Car company's works at Pullman, Ill, and the results have so far satisfied the officials that in all probability the new force will be in use shortly in all the great shops of the corporation. The change is radical and marks a revolution in the manufacturing system of the great Pullman plant. With the air system it is claimed that the speed of the machine in use may be graded, something impossible when a belt is used.

Yesterday's Indianapolis Journal had this item: "Fort Wayne is the most important city in the northern part of the state and the conveniences for reaching it from Indianapolis by rail are by no means satisfactory. A passenger official says the Big Four and the Lake Erie and Western should run through coaches between Indianapolis and Fort Wayne at hours which would be convenient to the traveling public The expense of such an arrangement would be light and in a short time the route would become a popular one, as the best time could be made."

The laboratory at the electric works is being fitted with apparatus for experimental purposes in sciography with the Roentgen X rays. The experiments will be made by Prof. Thomas Duncan.

Supt J. J. Wood has gotten out some improvements on his dynamos and the first machine will leave the works tomorrow for Buffalo. when its performances will be a revelation to men who are supposed to know something about dynamos. The new machine is of 100 light arc capacity.

Pittsburg engine 310, which was run into the round house at 5 o'clock this morning and left standing on the drop pit, sprang a leak at the throttle, moved through the open door and dropped down into the transfer table, between the round house and machine shop. The only damage to the engine was the bending and displacement of the driver air brakes. It was 9 o'clock when the wrecking crew got the engine back into the round house.

Mrs. Mary Dolan, of No. 58 Walton avenue, left Wednesday to visit relatives in Niles, Mich., and other points.

MAGNETISM DOES IT.

W. D. CRUMBIE'S NEW WAY OF PHOTOGRAPHING HIDDEN OBJECTS.

Magnetic Force Proved to Be the Principle—Cathode Rays Not Necessary—Astonishing Results Without the Agency of Any Light.

Since Professor Roentgen's discovery of photography by means of the cathode rays the most important results in that line of investigation have recently been obtained by William D. Crumbie, an assistant in the United States laboratory in New York.

Mr. Crumbie has lately shown that the Roentgen pictures, so called, may be obtained without the use of the tubes, and therefore without the cathode rays which were supposed to be absolutely essential to the process. The results of his experiments without light are pictures—not shadows—clear in form and outline.

He began his investigation with the assumption that the pictures were produced not by the rays, but by some influence in the magnetic field. His experiments have shown to him the truth of this theory, though he frankly admits that he is unable to define the influence which has produced such astonishing results.

At the last meeting of the New York section of the Society of Chemical Industry Mr. Crumbie's experiments, as reported by his chief, Dr. Wainwright, were discussed with the most profound interest. Chairman Alfred H. Mason of the New York section of the society said that Mr. Crumbie's discovery was really made in an entirely different field from that of Professor Roentgen's investigation. He predicted that it opened the way to results even more remarkable.

Mr. Crumbie's experiments began soon after the announcement of Professor Roentgen's discovery. At his home in East Orange he explained to a reporter his methods of investigation. Feeling sure that the pictures could be produced without the rays, he constructed his apparatus accordingly. The generative force at the outset was very much like that of Roentgen's.

Mr. Crumbie used two Edison-Leland phonograph batteries. The primary circuit was established from these batteries to a small inductive coil, from which secondary wires were run to two brass plates. Two coins and a key were wrapped in two folds of Bristol board and placed between two gelatin plates and the bundle thus formed was placed in an ordinary photograph holder, which was set between the metal plates. To avoid all possibility of light, the experimenter placed a photographer's cover over the apparatus.

After an exposure of 30 hours, Mr. Crumbie's work was rewarded in a most astonishing way. He found that the objects had been photographed clearly and distinctly without the use of the tubes at all. He thought at first that the result might be due to sparking against the paper, and he made experiments to see if this were so.

He used a much stronger current to see whether sparking, if it had occurred, would produce marks on the cardboard or the gelatin film. There was no evidence of any action aside from the usual development.

Then Mr. Crumbie was sure of his theory that the pictures had been produced entirely by magnetic action.

Afterward he made a picture of a Columbian half dollar on carbon paper without the wrapping of Bristol board. The picture revealed clearly the letters and date.

Mr. Crambie modestly attributes these results to the influence of Tesla's success in his experiments in the static field, but he will continue his own work, and has hopes of obtaining even better photographs than those recently made.—New York World.

BREACH OF PROMISE.

Mrs. Hubner Secures $5,000 From William Reikhoff's Estate.

LEMARS, Iowa, March 6.—Mrs. Amanda Hubner secured judgment yesterday for $5,000 damages against the heirs of William Reikhoff, because, some time before his death, which occurred a year ago, Reikhoff promised to marry her and afterwards refused to make his word good. Her original claim was $30,000. The case is the first of the kind ever decided in the United States, and will be appealed by the heirs.

SHOCKING TRAGEDY.

Mable Sullivan, a Music Teacher Murdered.

PATERSON, N. J., March 6.—Mable Sullivan, 28 years of age, was murdered in this place last night. She was a music teacher, and had spent the evening with a married sister, whose house she left, unaccompanied, about 9:30 o'clock for her home. A little later she was found unconscious by the side of a fence, her head battered and her clothing torn. She died soon afterward. No arrests have been made.

CONVENTION PLANS IN OHIO.

Probable Candidates and Delegates to be Named by Republicans.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 6.—By placing additional chairs in the Grand opera house it has been found practicable to seat the delegates to the republican state convention on the floor of the auditorium. The proposition to take the convention to the Fourteenth regiment armory has therefore been abandoned. The delegates will meet next Tuesday afternoon by congressional districts and each will select members of the usual committees. These committees will meet for their work in the evening The convention proper will meet Wednesday morning. Senator elect Foraker will preside temporarily.

Charles Kinney, of Portsmouth, and E. W. Doty, of Cleveland, are candidates for the nomination for secretary of state. Mr Kinney will probably get get it For supreme judge M. J. Williams, the incumbent, and John A. Price, of Bellefontaine, are candidates. Mr. Williams will probably be again chosen. For state food commissioner F. C. McNeal will probably be renominated, and Representative Frank Huffman, of Van Wert, will be named for member of the board of public works.

For delegates at large it is expected that Senator elect Foraker, Governor Bushnell, Mark A. Hanna and probably C. H. Grosvenor will be chosen.

EASTER NUMBER OF FASHIONS.

OUR SPLENDID MONTHLY

"Fashions" for March is doubly welcome, as it is issued this month in a vastly enlarged and sumptuous form. It is the Easter edition of the magazine and combines the attractions of a festival and bicycle number. The cover printed in several rich colors, is both classic in design, and happily suggestive of the joyous Spring season when lilies bloom and days of fasting are over.

Call and Get a Copy---'Tis Free.

A Jealous Rival Starts a False Report.

For some time rumors have been current that the Brenzinger Baking company, located at No. 14 Washington boulevard, were not a permanent institution and intended, in a short time, to leave the city.

Mr. G F. Yergens, the manager for the company, desires to inform the public that this report is entirely false, and was started by a jealous rival, who, owing to the progressive methods of the Brenzinger Baking company, sees his business rapidly drifting away from him and takes this petty manner of seeking revenge.

The large building occupied by the Brenzinger company was built expressly for their use by Fisher Bros and a ten year lease given. The plant is one of the best equipped in the state for baking purposes and nothing but purely high class goods are turned out Everything pertaining to the baking line is manufactured by them and the town is thoroughly covered by a system of delivery wagons so that you can have your bread delivered fresh at your door every morning In addition to this every first-class grocery in the city handles Brenzinger bread, cakes, etc If your grocer does not have Brenzinger bread on sale insist on him getting it at once, you want the best and that is to be found in the Brenzinger brand of bread.

This bakery pays special attention to the baking of cakes, pies and fancy pastry of all kinds, and are prepared to furnish parties at short notice with the most toothsome creations of the bakers art

Under the present management this company has rapidly come to the front and assumed a position head and shoulders above all competitors and are now the recognized leaders in the baking line in Fort Wayne. They have unlimited capital back of them and are prepared to stay.

Ring up telephone No. 548 and order a supply of Brenzinger bread, and you will become a permanent customer of this favorite bakery.

GRAND DISPLAY

Of Baby Carriages at James M. Kane's.

Has the Exclusive Agency for the Gendron Carriage.

Parties contemplating the purchase of a baby carriage this spring will make a serious mistake if they buy without first examining the handsome line of Gendron cabs carried by James M. Kane.

Mr. Kane has the exclusive agency of this territory for this superb make of Carriages and has in stock for this season's trade, beyond a doubt, the most complete and handsome line ever before displayed in Fort Wayne

The manufacturers of the Gendron Carriages have patented the Gendron clinch rubber tire, which will be found on their make of carriages exclusively.

You will find in Mr. Kane's line of Carriages anything you want from $3 up to $40, and he states that he is positively selling Baby Carriages this season 20 per cent. less than any other house in the city.

The only way to obtain a correct idea of the magnificence of this display is to call and inspect the stock.

RIOTS CONTINUE

In Nearly Every Large City in Italy.

Encounters Between the Soldiers and Rioters—Strong Feeling Against Barattieri.

ROME, March 6.—The rioting caused by the anger of the people at the conduct of the Abyssinian campaign, brought to a climax by the complete defeat of the Italian army, under General Barattieri, was continued last night in nearly every large city of Italy, although a rain storm cleared the streets of the capital.

At Milan, a large crowd marched through the principal streets, smashing windows right and left, yelling execration at Crispi and his minis and calling for the trial and prompt execution of General Baratieri. The rioters made their way to the railroad station with the intention of preventing the departure from Milan of the army reserve of that city and neighborhood belonging to the class of 1872, but, anticipating trouble, the authorities kept the men in the barracks and sent a regiment of infantry to guard the railroad station. These precautions only served to increase the sentiment of the mob leaders, and an attempt was made to break into the depot.

A number of sharp encounters between the rioters and soldiers and police followed. The soldiers and carabineieri were pelted with stone and the points of bayonets and swords were used to drive back the crowds. A number of soldiers and policeman were injured, and scores of rioters were slightly wounded. The disturbances continued until 2 o'clock in the morning, at which time the troops, at the point of the bayonet, had cleared the railroad station and its neighborhood of rioters and established a cordon of soldiers about it, while guarding with strong pickets all the approaches. The troops remained on duty all night.

There is today a marked improvement in the demeanor of the populace. A proclamation by the mayor enjoined the inhabitants of Rome to be calm and avoid assemblages, which would tend to develop riotous demonstrations. Business is proceeding as usual, and the only evidence here of the recent disturbances are the strong additional guards of soldiers on duty about the palace and all public buildings.

There was serious rioting at Parma last night. The municipal buildings were besieged by angry mobs, windows were smashed, there were a number of lively fights between the police and the populace and the troops were compelled to fire a volley over the heads of the most riotous of the mobs. This dampened the anger of the rioters, who scattered in all directions, pursued by the carabinieri, who succeeded in arresting several of the leaders of the disturbances. They will be kept prisoners until the popular excitement subsides.

There were a number of meetings last night of the different factions of the opposition, but nothing definite was decided upon, although a group of members of the right party passed a resolution demanding the complete abandonment of Erythea, as its retention would only involve a waste of money and men.

The Marquis Di Rudini is now looked upon as likely to yield to the representations of his friends and consent to undertake the formation of a new cabinet with General Ricotti as minister of war. The latter has already held that portfolio three times, first in 1870, again in 1873 and lastly in 1877.

The work of dispatching reinforcements to Massowah is being pushed with praiseworthy vigor. On board the chartered transports gangs of men relieve each other so that the fitting out of these vessels is continued day and night. The army reserve men of the class 1872 just called to the colors, will, so soon as equipped, relieve regiments now doing garrison duty and the soldiers thus rendered available for active service will be shipped to Africa as rapidly as possible, the incoming ministry makes a complete change in the colonial policy of the country as advocated by many prominent men, and it is determined to make peace at any price with the Abyssinians.

The students of Pisa invaded the railroad stations here last evening, as a result of a report having been circulated that the artillery of the garrison of that place was to be transferred to Naples for shipment to Africa. They marched in procession to the depot shouting, "down with Crispi." "get us back our soldiers," "death to Baratieri," etc. The local authorities, however proved equal to the occasion. A strong force of police were sent to the station and the students were dispersed after burning all the copies obtainable of the government newspaper organs and smashing a few windows.

Among the military men there is a strong sentiment in favor of pushing the campaign in Africa to the utmost, even if it is necessary to call out all the army reserve and send 50,000 additional troops to Abyssinia. But the sober minded representatives of the business community advocate a policy of peace, even if it is necessary for Italy's pride to suffer in order to obtain these ends. The masses, as a rule, are opposed to any further sacrifice of the lives of Italian soldiers and they are to sympathy with those who favor a complete change in the colonial policy of Italy.

In the reasonbile the financial situation is alarming all those who contemplate it and this, it is hoped, may have the effect of bringing about the adoption of a policy of conciliation and economy.

BASE BALL TALK.

The Inter-State League is Doing Well, Thank You.

Arrangements for the Season are Progressing Rapidly and All the Clubs Are Getting in Shape.

A Wheeling special to the Sporting News says:

"It now appears certain that the Inter State Base Ball league is to be a "go." For the past two weeks matters have been rather uncertain on account of the difficulty in securing grounds here in Wheeling. The magnates in the other cities said in the event of Wheeling flickering, they would abandon all efforts to organize a league. The reasons for this determination were that Wheeling is the best city in the circuit and no other town in this end of the circuit could be secured to take the Nail City's place. President McKee, of the local club, was down from Pittsburg on Monday and although he did not close a deal for grounds, it is pretty sure that grounds will be secured and consequently the league made a certainty. Five sites are now being considered and one will be selected before the close of the week.

"Reports from all the cities of the league are encouraging. Up at Youngstown the club is backed by the street railway company. Charles Hazen, of Akron, has been engaged as manager and has already signed six players. So once again, after many years, the home of Jimmy McAleer will have a professional team.

"New Castle, Pa., looked doubtful for a time, but the enthusiasts there got together a day or two ago and raised all the funds necessary to start the team on a good basis. 'Billy' Thompson, who managed their team last season, will probably occupy the same position this season.

"Washington, Pa., the baby town of the league, is backed by Byron D. J. McKeown, a millionaire oil magnate. Though the town is small it is thoroughly imbued with the athletic spirit. Even should the club prove a financial loss to its owner he will not object strenuously. Manager Curran, of Washington, has signed nine men and has others on his list.

"Fort Wayne people say that in the improbable event of the Inter-State organization flickering, they will head a movement to organize a league made up of Indiana and western Ohio towns.

"The league as it stands is composed of Wheeling, Washington, New Castle and Youngstown in the east; Toledo, Fort Wayne and Akron in the west. The eighth franchise will be located in Findlay, Lima, Springfield or Dayton, any one of which towns would support a club in good style. President Power is now trying to get the eighth club matter settled."

The Gospel meetings in Bethany continue to grow in influence. Fifteen or twenty arose last night when the invitation was given by Rev. Caldwell at the close of his able sermon. The last service of the series will be tonight.

Whether the big sleeves will entirely go out as the season advances is a moot question. At present some of the newest dresses have close fitting sleeves, enlarged on shoulders by upper ones plaited or frilled, while for evening quite small sleeves are made of flowers, but probably we shall learn to accustom ourselves to the diminished size by means of sleshings, which in the evening will be of thin material, in the daytime, of contrasting fabric and color. The tulle flashings, imprisoning flowers, is a pretty idea, and there seems an inclination to use satin, worked with jewels, for full dress in the daytime.

CUBAN AFFAIRS.

The Spanish Minister at Washington a Busy Man.

MADRID, March 6.—As a result of the publication in Eldia that the Spanish minister at Washington had notified the government that President Cleveland would veto any Cuban resolution, a statement was made today from an authoritative source as to the extent of the information received from the minister at Washington. It shows that he has kept the government fully advised of all actual developments, but has not anticipated action in any branch. Up to the present time the minister has not informed the government that the president will veto the Cuban resolutions, nor is he informed, so far as the government knows, what the future course of the executive authorities at Washington will be. At the same time the ministry has access to the dispatches received by the news agencies at Paris, London and Madrid and some of these recent dispatches, which have been widely published throughout Europe as indicating the probable course of the administrative authorities at Washington, have borne the stamp of authenticity and are accepted as semi-official and authoritative.

They have been regarded by officials, as well as the general public, as correctly forecasting the probable course of the Washington authorities To these the Spanish minister at Washington has not added his official advice, nor has he stated that he has any assurances as to the future of the Cuban resolutions. Official advices from Havana show that Maceo has made a bold march to the north with a view to meeting Calix Garcia, who was expected to arrive with arms and ammunitions. After learning that the Garcia expedition was a failure, Maceo was unable to move eastward or to reach the southern everglades, and was compelled to move west into Havana province. It is believed that his purpose was in part a feint to prevent the reinforcements arriving at Havana from carrying out their projected movements No uneasiness is felt at the presence of Maceo in Havana province He has failed to effect a juncture with Gomez and is 100 miles north from him.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The president said to a representative of the Associated Press this morning: "I see that it is assumed in certain quarters that a deliverance published a few days ago on the Cuban question may be taken as defining the attitude of the administration on that subject. I wish you would say that I never saw the statement nor heard of it until I read it in the newspapers, and even then neglected to read all of it, supposing it represented nothing more than newspaper gush. I do not know how it originated, nor by whom it was constructed or inspired, but I do know that I am in no manner responsible for it, nor in any way related to it. I only desire to say in addition that I do not know whether the publication referred to represents the views of the administration on the Cuban question or not and that I have never found any difficulty in communicating with the people in a manner which leaves no doubt as to the authenticity of any statement purporting to represent my views."

Rice House Failed.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Dr. Talmage's son, one of the largest houses in the rice trade, has made an assignment to J. Hills, with preferences of $14,458. The creditors of the concern number about seventy. The assignment is understood to be largely due to the low price of rice, which has been brought about by the keen competition in trade. The founder of the firm died twenty years ago.

Appointed Judge.

PHILADELPHIA, March 6.—Governor Hastings has appointed Charles B. McMichael judge of the court of common pleas No. 3, in this city, to succeed Judge Henry Reed. The new judge is the youngest son of the late Morton McMichael, once mayor of Philadelphia, and a brother of Col. Clayton McMichael, publisher of the Philadelphia North American.

Will Defend Apportionment of 1895.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 6.—At a conference here between the sub-committee of the democratic state central committee and leading democratic attorneys, it was decided that the democrats should petition the supreme court to be made parties to the republican suit against the apportionment act of 1895. It was also decided that no attempt should be made to delay the case unless it should appear that a decision could not be rendered in time to issue election writs under it. The rights of the hold over senators to seats in the legislature will be combatted in the event.

GEAR IS ACQUITTED.

First of the Alleged Bribery Trials in Ohio is Concluded.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 6.—The jury last evening returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of Senator William Gear, of Upper Sandusky, charged with soliciting a bribe from ex-Senator Chas Flummerfelt, in the Flummerfelt-Spooner contest, in 1894. This is the first of the alleged bribery trials. The other indictment against Mr. Gear will not be tried until after the cases against ex Senators Geyer, Idan and Ohl have been disposed of.

Fire at New York.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Folly $300,000 loss was caused by fire which broke out early today in the Garvin building, Leight street, York street and St. John's place. The fire was confined to the structure in which it originated, and upon which the loss is $75,000. The Garvin Machine company which manufactured bicycles, type writers and other machines, loss $175,000 and Bernard Ullman, manufacturer of embroidery, suffers to the extent of $50,000 The Garvin Machine company is fully insured.

AKRON, Ohio, March 6.—Dr. O. Cone resigned today as president of Buchtel college, giving as his reason that there was too much sectarian control of the institution, contrary to the desires of the founder.

ELOPERS DISCOVERED.

GREENSBURG, Ind., March 6.—James Goodwin, a farmer of Osgood, twenty miles south of here, was arrested on a telegram from the sheriff of Cheyenne county, Kansas, charging him with embezzlement and with eloping with another man's wife, and that his alleged wife was a Mrs. John Muir, and Miss Myrtle, the sixteen year old girl, was her daughter. Goodwin denied the charge, but the frightened woman gave the whole story away. Her father, Thomas Norton, a wealthy ranchman in Kansas, broke off her engagement to Goodwin, a cowboy, and made her marry Muir. Goodwin went west, married, struck it rich in the mines and came back. They both applied for a divorce, but were refused. He then eloped with her and her daughter, coming here about a year ago, where they have resided ever since as man and wife, although they were never married.

THE PROPOSED SHIP CANAL.

The Views of Mr. Dinwiddie As to Its Route.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—About three-fourths of the population of northwestern Indiana is thoroughly aroused over the bill introduced by Congressman Hatch to secure a survey for a canal from Lake Michigan to the Wabash river, judging from the large number of letters on the subject received by members of the Indiana delegation in congress. The latest communication is from O. Dinwiddie, of Orchard Grove, representative in the state legislature from Lake county, which says:

"According to Professor Campbell's survey of the Kankakee valley, made a few years ago, the elevation at Shelby, in the south end of Lake county, is much lower than at any point east of here or near the Kankakee river, and near Leroy, on the Panhandle railroad, the watershed or divide is merely nominal, where it separates the water running north through Deep river to the lake, from Eagle creek running south, into the Kankakee river. If you should have anything to do with the route to be surveyed, please look into the route beginning near the old mouth of the Calumet river, thence running nearly due south through the valley of Eagle creek to Kankakee river. Thence a direct line might be made to Attica. I think less cutting will be needed by this route than by any one further east." Congressman Hatch will lay this letter before the committee on railways and canals.

NOT ARRESTED YET.

How Constable John Wise Eluded the Officers.

Divorce Case Dismissed—The News as Found in the City Courts.

The warrant for the arrest of John Wise, the ex-constable, for the embezzlement of $63 95, mention of the issue of which was made in last evening's SENTINEL, was sworn out yesterday morning at 10 o'clock and placed in the hands of the officers. Wise was in the city at that time and did not leave until 1:16 in the afternoon, which he did on the Wabash train east, leaving at that time. Six officers were on the lookout for him and most of them were at the depot at the time the train pulled out, and yet the wily constable eluded all of them and escaped. It is said that he boarded the train at the Huron street crossing and in this way escaped arrest. John is a slick one and it is not probable that he will be arrested nor will he return to this city.

Wise secured his mileage for his trip to Toledo from Attorney Stump in order to make some collections for the lawyer at that place and he was also given money to pay his expenses. Attorney Stump knew nothing about the charges of embezzlement.

NINE WIVES IN NINE YEARS.

Remarkable Record of H. C. Wilmoth, Who Pleads Guilty in Kansas.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 6.—H. C. Wilmoth, going under various aliases, and who was recently arrested at Terre Haute, Ind., and taken to Kansas City, Kas., charged with bigamy, pleaded guilty. The trial developed the remarkable fact that Wilmoth had in the last nine years married nine different women, all of whom are said to be living, and that in each case he deserted them after securing their money. They live in Chicago, Duluth, St. Paul, Cincinnati and other points. Mrs. Wilmoth No. 1, formerly Miss Ora Wilkins, of Seneca, Kas., and Mrs. Wilmoth No 2, a former Effingham, Ill., woman, appeared to prosecute the prisoner. Wilmoth had but recently been liberated from the state penitentiary after serving a five year sentence for defrauding Mrs. R. Ellison, a Kansas City woman, to whom he was married in 1890. Sentence has not been pronounced.

Senator Voorhees' Illness.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Senator Voorhees has not been in the senate chamber since his first attack of sickness several weeks ago. He is confined to his room, but is able to see callers and enjoys meeting his friends The most serious symptom is the threatened heart failure, from which he has been a sufferer for several years He suffers considerable discomfort from muscular rheumatism.

REV. JOHN P. LLOYD.

Death of This Venerable Divine Yesterday Afternoon.

The death of Rev. John P. Lloyd, brief mention of which was made in THE SENTINEL yesterday afternoon, has caused universal sorrow throughout the city.

Rev. Lloyd died from neuralgia of the stomach and liver. He was sick only about ten days. During his illness he suffered much from exhaustion. He was conscious to the time of his death and during the last two hours folded his hands and engaged in earnest prayer, his last words being, "Nothing in my hands I bring, simply to—" and before he could finish the sentence his spirit had flown.

Rev. Lloyd was one of the most widely known ministers of the Presbyterian church in this section. He was born in Chillicothe, Ohio, March 22, 1814. In 1839 he was licensed to preach and from that time to 1881 he was actively engaged in the ministerial work. During those years he was located at various places in Ohio, where his work was of the most zealous and earnest kind. No man ever had greater faith in the Word which he was preaching and no man was more in earnest. Rev Lloyd spent most of the years of his youth and manhood in the central part of Ohio, where he had charges and where he become widely known and popular because of his excellent character.

One of the most important works of Rev. Lloyd was done at Gallon and Crestline. These towns are four miles apart. In both places Rev. Lloyd built up Presbyterian churches and for a number of years had charge of the congregations in the two towns. Later he was stationed at Crestline for about twenty years.

When a young man Rev. Lloyd was married to Miss Reed, daughter of the late Rev. John Reed, Indiana, Pa., who was his faithful companion through all the vemaining years of his life and who survives him.

In 1881 Rev. Lloyd was compelled, on account of his failing health, to give up active ministerial work. The infirmities of advanced age were telling on him. Upon his retirement he came to Fort Wayne, where he spent the remainder of his days. During his residence here he has not been entirely out of the work for the Master, but on numerous occasions he has occupied the pulpit in the various Presbyterian churches in this city and in churches throughout this presbytory. He was a profound theologian, a great scholar and an able speaker. This ability coupled with his deep earnestness in the gospel work made him one of the best known ministers in northern Indiana.

For some time past Rev. Lloyd was confined to his home and it was known that his illness could not but terminate fatally. His death occurred yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at his home on East Berry street. In his last moments he was surrounded by his family and his death was peaceful, in keeping with the pure, good and peaceful life which was ebbing away.

In the death of Rev. Lloyd, the city loses a citizen like whom there are not many, the church loses one of its shining lights and a pure soul goes to its reward.

The honorary pall bearers have been selected as follows and are elders of the churches: O P. Morgan, J W. Cromwell, Frederick Autrup, O. B. Fitch, F. M. Smaltz.

The funeral services will take place Monday morning at 10 o'clock, from the house, No 141 East Berry street On Sunday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, there will be a union memorial service held in the First Presbyterian church Addresses will be made by Dr. Moffat, Rev Leeper, Dr. Borgs, Rev. Davies and Rev. Zurbuch. Singing by the different church choirs. This is to be a union meeting and all of the friends of Dr. Lloyd and family are invited.

HEART FAILURE

Caused the Death of Mrs. John Houlihan, Sr.

The End Came at 3 o'clock This Morning—The Day's Record of Deaths and Funerals.

At 3 o'clock this morning occurred the death of Mrs Mary Houlihan, wife of John Houlihan, sr., at the family residence, No. 93 West Williams street. Death was due to heart failure. The deceased was born in Gallney, county Kerry, Ireland, and was sixty six years of age. She came to the United States and settled in Chicopee, Mass., and lived there until 1864 when, with her husband and family she came to Fort Wayne. She was a resident of this city for thirty two years She leaves a husband and six children, Michael J., John, jr., Johanna, Thomas, James and Bridget Two brothers are living in Massachusetts. The funeral will be held at St. Patrick's church at 1:30 Sunday afternoon, leaving the house a half hour earlier.

FUNERALS

The funeral of the late Owen McGuire was held at the Cathedral this morning. It was very largely attended, Mr. McGuire having been one of the highly respected citizens of Fort Wayne.

The funeral of Harry, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hudgel, was held this forenoon at the residence on West Jefferson street, Rev. J. A. Ainslie conducting the services.

OFFICERS ELECTED

By the Germania Building and Loan Association.

The Germania Building and Loan association held a meeting last night and elected the following officers:

President—Peter Nussbaum.
Secretary—Charles H Buck.
Treasurer—A Fuelbor.
Directors—Theobold Hofer, Henry Heine, Fred Leeper, George Weil, Ernest Theime and Louis Meyers.

The finances are in excellent shape and the affairs of the association will be wound up in about ten months, two months earlier than expected. This will release $50,000 in mortgages.

The Sons of Veterans have commenced their preparations for the observance of Decoration day. A program appropriate to the occasion has been arranged. The entire affair is in the hands of the Sons of Veterans.

His many friends will be pleased to learn that the condition of W. D Jones, the landlord of the New Aveline hotel, shows steady improvement. This morning, for the first time since he was taken sick, Mr. Jones was able to be at the table and eat a hearty breakfast.

Dr. B. Von Sweringen received a telegram this morning from Supt. A. H. Graham, announcing the death of Miss Mary W. Hipp, a teacher in the Soldiers' Orphans' home, at Knightstown. Miss Hipp will be well remembered by Fort Wayne people, she having visited Dr. and Mrs. B. VonSweringen on numerous occasions. She was formerly a teacher in the Feeble Minded institute, in this city.

Last evening about twenty-five of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. George Roberts, of West Butler street, invaded their home for the purpose of letting George know that it was his forty-third birthday. A good time was had by all present. Music, games and conversation were the order of the evening till 11:30, when a delightful luncheon was served, after which all bade the host and hostess many returns of the event and returned home.

The junior league of the Simpson M. E church gave and entertainment last evening at the church and it was one of the best and largest attended of any affair of the kind ever held there. All the participants did well. Those who took leading parts in the program were: Maud Haskell, Elsie Frace, Ethel Heidenreich, Flora Brown, Stella Stien, Blanche Moss, Pearl and Dessie Moor, Frankie Hickman, Bessie Curry, Myrtle Lewis

MISS CLARA BARTON.

Let Her Travel in Armenia and Distribute Relief.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 6.—The Turkish foreign minister has renewed to United States Minister Terrell, in the presence of Miss Clara Barton, president of the American Red Cross society, the government's promises to permit Miss Barton and her assistants to travel in Armenia and distribute relief. It is now known that although an imperial irade was drawn up authorizing Miss Barton to distribute relief to the Armenian sufferers, and was at first approved by the sultan, it was afterwards withdrawn by his majesty, while thousands of persons were suffering from cold and famine.

THE CITY HALL.

Affairs as They Have Happened Over There.

Police Court—To Enforce the Vehicle Tax Law—Pretty Flowers—The Everett Ordinance.

Charles Sheridan and Patrick Sullivan, drunks, were sent to jail from police court this morning. Albert Schaus, a young man who had escaped from a reform school in Pennsylvania, and who came to this city and secured employment at the Reformed Orphans home, was taken up on the charge of vagrancy. It was learned from the story he told that he had worked his way west from Pennsylvania by doing some petty stealing, therefore Superintendent Rettig, of the home, did not want to risk keeping him about the place. The mayor sent him to jail and the Pennsylvania authorities will be notified of his capture.

MILKMEN AND MILKMEN.

Mayor Oakley informed THE SENTINEL this morning that since the recent decision of the supreme court on the vehicle tax law he intends to compel all brick haulers and milkmen who use the streets of this city to come in and take out vehicle licenses. He says the supreme court decision leaves no loophole through which they can escape and he will see to it now that the law is enforced.

PRETTY FLOWERS

Park Superintendent Doswell came to the city hall this morning with a number of pretty tulips in full bloom. They were the product of some bulbs which the city purchased last fall and they were grown in the green house of the north side park. They were left in the office of the board of public works.

ABOUT THE POLE TAX

The Consolidated Electric railway has made inquiries at the office of the city comptroller regarding the manner in which the chart should be made which will show the location of their poles in the city. The company has not yet said that it intended to pay the pole tax, but this is taken as an indication that it will do so. Charts have been filed by the Central Union Telephone company, the gas company and the Western Union.

THE EVERETT FRANCHISE.

City Attorney Nimle said this morning that the Everett street railroad franchise had not yet been completed, but he is still working on it. Mayor Oakley said it would be ready for the council at the next meeting on next Tuesday night

FOUND A BODY.

Wallace street people are excited over the finding of the body of a still born infant in a vault at No. 103 on that street. Coroner Harrod and the officers are making an investigation. It is presumed that the body of the infant was placed in the vault last Sunday by two women who were seen in the outbuilding. The women were heavily veiled and were not recognized. The house at No. 103 Wallace street has been unoccupied for some time.

JACK, THE ROMAN

This is the name by which the people of Rockhill street know an individual who makes nightly trips along that street howling and yelling at the top of his voice. The people are laying for him with a club.

FOUND DEAD.

Louis Pernot's Body Discovered in a Barn at Dawkins.

Coroner Harrod was notified last night that Louis Pernot, a son of Christian Pernot, of Dawkins, east of this city, on the Nickel Plate road, has been found dead in the barn at his home. The discovery was made by the young man's mother, who missed him from the house yesterday morning and went on a search for him. He was found lying on the floor in the barn. No particulars could be obtained and Coroner Harrod went to the place this morning to make an investigation.

GRATIFYING RESULTS.

Interesting Experiments with the New Stomach Remedy.

The results of recent experiments, have been established, beyond question, the great activities of the new preparation for indigestion and stomach troubles. It is composed of the digestive acids, pepsin, bismuth, nux vomica, and similar stomachics, prepared in tablet form of 30 grain lozenges, pleasant to the taste, convenient to carry when traveling, harmless to the most delicate stomach, and probably the safest, most effective remedy ever discovered for indigestion, sour stomach, loss of appetite and kindred troubles. Many cases of nervous headache, palpitation of the heart, and the many symptoms arising from indigestion, have been relieved by a few days' use of these tablets. They cure because they digest the food to be prepared, and the stomach receives benefit before it has time to [illegible] and poison the blood.

[illegible] Pepsin Tablets [illegible] Chocolates, Wintergreen, Cinnamon, Peppermint, and in three forms, plain, pepsin and bismuth, and pepsin and nux vomica, thereby giving great variety to the manner of taking them. I have not been so enthusiastic over [illegible] merely for one.

Geo. W. Hill, [illegible] Ind., says: "Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have relieved me of acid stomach, belching, and a bad taste in the mouth, after suffering for years. They are safe, pleasant to take, and [illegible] every time when eating, the perfect results."

Mr. W. H. Turnock, New [illegible], Ind., says: "Both Mrs. Turnock and myself have used Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and have found them a perfect cure for indigestion and [illegible] gaining flesh and strength."

H. E. Hanson, Independence, Kas., says: "I was distressed after [illegible] with a full, bloated feeling, and [illegible] growing in food, often for three hours a day; had heartburn, and [illegible] if I ate one. For three days of the following day, dreadful headache. Since using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets I have had no return of these troubles, and can heartily recommend them to all."

Rev. G. D. Brown, Medford, Wis., says: "The effect of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is simply marvellous; a sadder [illegible] dinner of broiled beef steak causes no distress when I began their use."

Over six thousand people in the state of Michigan alone have been cured of stomach troubles by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

The democrats should put forward their very best men as candidates for councilmen in the different wards of the city.

The return of Dr. Nansan from the north pole is certified to by Peter Ivanowitch Knuckmarell. This ought to remove all doubt.

Is there ever was a time in the history of Fort Wayne when the democrats should make no mistake in regard to their selection of a candidate for mayor, it is this year.

It takes Kentucky an awful long while to elect a senator. The deadlock in their legislature is a strong argument for an election of United States senators by a direct vote of the people.

There will be music in the air tomorrow afternoon when the republicans of this city hold their caucuses to select delegates to their district conventions. The candidates for delegate to the national convention are waging a bitter fight.

The death of Rev. Dr. Lloyd, which occurred yesterday, removes one of the best known ministers in northern Indiana. He was a man of unblemished character, earnest Christian zeal, and had done a great work for the church. Few men were more highly esteemed or more universally beloved.

An innovation in the school holiday of the week—changing it from Saturday to Monday—although quite common in the east, has recently found lodgment in the west. The plan is now in operation in Butler university and is about to be put in operation in Franklin college. The change is claimed to make a better observance of Sabbath, as the students do not spend the day in the preparation of their lessons. What does the Fort Wayne school board think of such a change?

If Mr. Cleveland firmly decides that he does not care for a fourth nomination and a third term, the influence he wields will probably have a great deal to do with the final outcome of the balloting for a presidential candidate at the Chicago convention. It has been known for months that if Mr. Cleveland finally decides that he does not care to enter the race again, that the great influence he wields as president of the United States upon the office holders that he has appointed that either his present secretary of state or the man he has placed at the head of the treasury department will be his choice.

If the Kentucky legislature should adjourn, as now seems likely, without electing a successor to Senator Blackburn, Governor Bradley will not be able to fill the vacancy by appointment. The senate has established a precedent that the governor of a state has no authority to fill a vacancy which results from a failure of the legislature to elect. Montana, Washington and Wyoming sent three men to Washington with credentials of this kind in their pockets, but they were not permitted to take their seats, as they had been appointed in each instance after the respective legislatures had failed to elect. Governor Bradley can call the Kentucky legislature together in extra session if he wishes to do so but there is no occasion for any haste. Mr. Blackburn's term will not expire until March 1 1897.

European Fears.

Europe does not like the prospect of American intervention in Cuba. Europe cannot be expected to like it. In Paris alone five hundred million dollars' worth of Cuban bonds are held, all of which would become worthless paper as soon as Cuba gained her independence.

The European papers call attention to the fact that the north raised a howl at the prospect of European recognition of the south. Of course it did, and of course Spain howls now. But the conditions are not the same. The south was trying to disrupt a united nation and to perpetuate the crime of slavery. The patriots of Cuba are striving for national freedom.

The parallel must be drawn, not on the war of the rebellion, but on that of the revolution, when the American people were fighting for freedom, and when France took up the cause of the patriots and recognized them as a nation, just as the United States are about to do in regard to Cuba.

It is absurd for the Europeans to say that the Cuban insurgents have done nothing to merit recognition as belligerents. If defying proud Spain, holding her armies in check for a year, conquering nine tenths of the island, organizing and maintaining a republican government and taxing to the limit every resource of her vainglorious oppressor be not enough to make these patriots belligerents in the broadest sense of the word, then what is?

It takes the Europeans a long time to learn that the United States are not bluffing, but they will learn it soon—even if we should have to administer a "licking" to some one.

By Roentgen's Rays.

One of the results of the new photographic discovery by Dr. Roentgen is that a letter can be photographed through its envelope, and the contents read with as much ease as though the seal had been broken. This experiment has been successfully made by several members of the staff of the Gaulois at Paris and a telegram from that city has the following about it:

"In the course of experiments made with the assistance of M. Denis Lance, docteures sciences, and M. de Bouillane, a skilled photographer, our contemporary claims to have made a new discovery, of which more will be said later. On Saturday these experiments were being explained to M. Alexandre Hepp, when he exclaimed:

"'Why, then, you will be able to photograph letters through their envelopes?'

"'Just so!' was the reply, though at that time it was unknown whether such a thing was possible.

"The result of the conversation was that M. Hepp handed over one of several letters which he had just written, and in less than half an hour received a negative which distinctly showed his handwriting.

"This is not possible, however, with all kinds of paper and all kinds of ink, says the Gaulois. But only fifteen seconds are necessary to photograph the contents of a letter written upon the paper of the chamber of deputies or of the senate and inclosed in an envelope of the same paper. However, several sheets of paper wrapped round the letter would make photography very difficult, if not impossible. It has been found that a paper wrapped in tinfoil can not be photographed.

Warning the Liquor Traffic.

Some people are exceedingly short-sighted and none of them more so than the saloon keepers of Indiana and perhaps of the whole country. Knowing as they must that there is a strong and earnest body of people opposed to their existence, it would seem that their true policy would be to avoid rousing that hostility to action. But their course generally has been one of open defiance of the conscientious opinion of a great many excellent people. It ought to be said, for it is the truth, that most of the embarrassments in which they find themselves frequently involved, they bring upon themselves.

If the saloon keepers as a mass should unite in the purpose to remove the larger evils of their business, should submit cheerfully to the restraints of the law, should render due obedience to every requirement of every legislative enactment, they would find their road a much less hard one to travel than it is. Suppose there had been a universal observance of the provisions of the last general laws prior to 1895, there would not have been a strong and powerful movement for additional legislation.

If the law as it stood and stands now had been faithfully obeyed, if every saloon in Indiana had been closed on legal holidays, on election days, on Sundays, and in the hours of the night after the time fixed by the law, last closed up so that no one could enter, if they had always refused to sell liquor to minors and to men in the habit of becoming intoxicated, if they had always preserved the peace absolutely, kept hard characters off their premises, suppressed gambling and other vices therein, had refused to permit their places of business to become resorts for anarchists and places for criminal conspiracies to be hatched: if they had been in all respects law-abiding and maintained law and order within their precincts, there would never have been a Nicholson law, an enactment whose sole purpose, with one exception, was to make it possible to enforce existing law.

And still, blindly, the law with its Nicholson supplement is violated every day in the year and wrath gathers greater head against the traffic. There is a fairly respectable body of fairly respectable people who cannot understand why a man who runs a saloon should be permitted to violate the law when others are required to obey it.

ARCHBISHOP KENRICK.

His Death Removes a Prominent Catholic Prelate.

Peter Richard Kenrick, whose death occurred last Wednesday, at St. Louis, was for nearly half a century the Catholic archbishop of that diocese. He was 88 years of age and had been in very feeble health for several years.

With the possible exception of John Ireland of St. Paul, no other archbishop of the Roman Catholic church in America has attracted more notice than Peter Richard Kenrick.

When Archbishop Kenrick began his administration St. Louis was a town of 20,000 inhabitants, and had two Catholic churches—the Cathedral, built in 1834, and a little Jesuit chapel. The diocese now contains over 300 churches, twenty-five stations and a Catholic population of over 350,000. At the time of his appointment as bishop of Drasa the diocese of St. Louis comprised Missouri, Arkansas and the western end of Illinois, and the bishop was compelled to travel on horseback or in wagons or stages over this immense territory, which has since been divided.

In the vatican he was a strong opponent of the doctrine of the infallibility of the pope, and had it not been for this opposition, it is said that the archbishop would have been made a cardinal.

He introduced into his diocese many religious societies that now control scores of schools and other institutions, many of them charitable. He laid out the cemetery of St. Louis. He was an author and had written several works of recognized merit.

MARVIN KUHNS.

The Noted Bandit's Habits in the Ohio Penitentiary.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

One of the most remarkable prisoners in the Columbus penitentiary is Marvin Kuhns, the celebrated outlaw, serving a life term for the murder of his pal at Tiffin five years ago. The wounds Kuhns received from the revolver of Deputy Sheriff Wilkinson, when he was captured near Fort Wayne, Ind., were at first supposed to be fatal, but Kuhns recovered. He still carries several bullets in his body, but experiences no inconvenience from them, and it is safe to say that were there to be a championship contest in the manly art at the prison, Kuhns could knock out any convict in the institution.

He is six feet in height, as straight as an arrow, powerfully muscled and as agile as a professional athlete. When the prisoners are marched to and from their meals or their work through the spacious yard within the walls, it is Kuhns's duty to lead one of the companies. He marches at the head of his company with all the dignity of a soldier, instead of indicating any inclination to hang his head and skulk past the gaze of the spectators. His head is thrown back, his carriage is graceful, his stripe clothes are neatly brushed, his heavy prison shoes are polished and his cap of black and white is worn with the jaunty air of the fearless, daring bandit that he is. The class of women who find pleasure in visiting the penitentiary and indulgence in sentimental talk over the convicts, invariably find an object of admiration in Marvin Kuhns.

THE GENIUS OF WISCONSIN.

Typified in a Heroic Statue by Miss Nellie Mears.

There is an interesting story connected with a piece of sculpture which is almost completed in a New York studio and which is soon to be sent to Madison, Wis., there to be erected on the state capitol building. It was designed by Miss Nellie Mears of Oshkosh, a young woman who is not yet in her twentieth year. She sent the design to the World's Fair, where it took the second prize. It was her first attempt, but its artistic qualities at once attracted attention and won for her the commission for a heroic statue for the Wisconsin state building.

MISS MEARS.

The statue represents a beautiful young woman, draped in an American flag, standing with uplifted face and caressing an eagle which perches just above her shoulder on a rock against which she is leaning. The bird of freedom is an idealization of "Old Abe," the historic eagle which perched on the colors of a Wisconsin regiment during the civil war, and which was captured and cared for with tender solicitude in the statehouse for years afterward. The title of the statue is "The Genius of Wisconsin" and is an admirable conception, executed with much skill if not genius. It is said that Miss Mears had never seen a statue when she made her design, but she has seen many since and bids fair to become one of the most successful of the younger wheel of sculptors.

Her first success gained for her the notice of Augustus St. Gaudens, the famous New York sculptor, and at his invitation she worked in his studios for more than a year. She was engaged during that time in working on the Logan statue. A short time ago she sailed for Paris, with a letter from Mr. St. Gaudens to Mr. MacMonnies, recommending her to his care as one of the strongest pupils he had ever had. Miss Mears was accompanied by Miss Dodd of Madison, and she is still abroad for two years. When she returns, she expects to settle in New York.

The ladies of the Congregational church will serve a supper from 6 o'clock to 8, in the parlors of the church this evening. An entertainment consisting of Mrs. Jarley's wax works will be given.

Attention Democrats.

The democrats of Allen county are requested to meet on Saturday, March 28th, 1896, in townships outside of city from 2 till 4 o'clock p. m., and wards in the city from 4 to 7 p. m. at the usual places of holding primary elections in the several townships and wards for the purpose of electing 99 delegates to the congressional convention to be held at Kendallville, Tuesday, April 7th, 1896, and the same number of delegates to the joint senatorial convention, between Whitley and Allen counties, to be held at a time to be hereafter fixed.

In said convention each township and ward will be entitled to the following number of delegates to each convention:

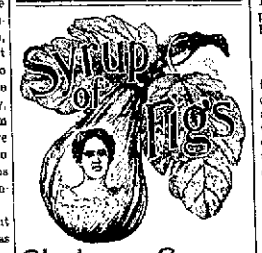
HORTICULTURISTS TO MEET.

A Horticultural Society to be Organized in This City.

A meeting will be held at the city greenhouse in the North Side park at 2:30 Sunday afternoon for the purpose of organizing a horticultural society. The project is in the hands of the Fort Wayne florists. Anyone who is interested in the growing of plants and flowers is eligible to membership and already over forty persons have signified their intention to become members. It will be purely horticultural. It is the intention to hold annual flower shows in the city after the organization has been completed.



Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then the pure figs of California, and the well-informed everywhere, will find it the most excellent remedy and the perfection of liver and bowel cleansers.

FARM AND GARDEN

CHEAP PLANTHOUSES.

How to Build and How to Heat Them. The Best Location.

Many gardeners would like to have greenhouse privileges, but fear the expense of building and heating one. There is a constant demand for plans of "cheap" houses. On a level and unprotected surface nothing cheaper or simpler can be put up than a little forcing pit, the plant beds of which are on the natural surface, with the walls or pots sunk 18 inches or 2 feet into the ground and the whole covered with a roof of ordinary hotbed sashes. A full-sized frame 3 feet wide and 6 feet long, facing south or southeast offers a still better site and chance for the erection of a cheap planthouse. Thus writes T. Greiner, who furnishes in American Gardening illustrations giving a cross section of such a house and a general view of it. The situation affords the very best possible protection, and the heating can be done in a very economical manner. Proper provision will have to be made for draining the surface water from the hill off to one side. A little shanty built cheaply but warmly at one (the west) end of the planthouse serves as a furnace and potting room. Concerning the heating of a planthouse the same authority says:

When a house or pit is used only for plant growing toward spring, and close set economy has to be practiced, the heating might be done by means of a double flue, the fireplace being in the shanty, and the return flue placed upon the other and ending in the chimney almost directly above the fireplace. The draft has to be adjusted in such a manner that a direct connection can be had from the fireplace to the chimney, to be open when fire is first started and then closed and the connection made with the flues. Fire will only be needed during the night, and perhaps a very little of it on cloudy days. The hot water method, however, will be found much more convenient even then, and surely by far the best and really only satisfactory plan when the house is to be used for forcing winter vegetables. It will surely pay big interest for the investment to put in one of the hot water heaters now made and advertised by various firms. I cannot tell you which of all of them is the best. Probably there is little difference. They all can be dependent on to give good service if you will get the proper size. The manufacturers will be willing enough to advise you as to the size required to heat your planthouse.

The problem of heating a small planthouse is simplified where natural gas (in some cases even the ordinary illuminating gas) can be had. We might then dispense with a regular heater, and just bring the heating flame to bear upon a coil of pipe connecting with the heating pipe system. Of course the coil is inside of a fireplace of brick or inclosed with a sheet iron jacket. That there must be an expansion tank connecting with the highest point in the pipe system to furnish some pressure and the necessary quantity of water for circulation, and to provide for waste by evaporation, need hardly be specially mentioned. For the gardener who is trying to make a living by raising and selling garden truck a good greenhouse or plant pit is an absolute necessity.

One Way to Save Money.

During the winter many conveniences and necessary farm tools and implements may be made in the home workhouse. Hayracks, wagon beds, swing gates, water troughs and tanks, sleds, tool racks, stalk rakes, chicken coops, shipping crates and berry boxes are simple in construction. Any bright farmer, with the assistance of a blacksmith, can make all of these and more. The expense will be much less than if bought in town or hired made. The tools which every well regulated farm ought to possess will answer. We have in mind a young farmer who does all this kind of work, and he is prospering in spite of hard times, cheap products, etc. He raises as much grain and stock as his neighbors who buy everything "ready" made, and has much more "ready" cash. Try your hand at it when the weather prevents outside work, advises The New England Homestead.

Experiments In Corn Culture.

Field experiments with corn reported from the Utah station by A. A. Mills consisted of tests of varieties of thick and thin planting and of detasseling. Of the varieties grown three years the common white flint of the locality gave the largest average yield. Thick and thin planting gave almost identical results. Every alternate row of corn was detasseled. These rows gave a smaller yield than the alternate rows not detasseled.

RED KAFFIR CORN.

Kaffir corn, one of the many nonsaccharine sorghums, is attracting attention in many widely separated parts of the country, and notable those sections where drought is liable to prevail. Following are extracts of interest on this subject from an article on sorghums by F. B. Burtis and published in a Kansas state board of agriculture report:

White Kaffir corn is one of the early introduced varieties of the nonsaccharine sorts. The plant grows short and stalky, and has short joints covered with large and numerous leaves. At maturity the stalks are quite dry and pithy. The seed tops grow erect, are long and slender and bear white seed. If dry weather checks this variety, the seed tops do not push out of the sheath, and the lower part resists and the grain is worthless. Under ordinary conditions this variety yields from 10 to 30 bushels of grain per acre and a fair yield of fodder, but the stalks are mostly refused by stock.

Red Kaffir was introduced at the Kansas station in 1887. It differs from the white fodder in that it grows taller and more slender and is much more juicy and sweeter. The seed differs in color and is somewhat smaller and harder. At the station it outyields the white in grain and fodder, and matures somewhat earlier, and we consider it superior in all respects. Of all varieties red Kaffir corn is the most valuable for farmers in general. It combines a large yield of fodder with the largest yield of grain, and is of a growth suitable to economical harvesting. Stock eat the fodder with a relish, and the feeding value of the grain is excelled by none. It stands dry weather as well, and does better on poor soil than any other. But it will respond well to good soil and plenty of moisture. After a variety has been selected an important point is to keep it pure, which will take some care if several kinds are raised in the same field.

Sorghum requires warm weather to develop it. The mistake is often made of planting it too early. Before or not later than corn was the practice a few years ago. Generally the result of this was a very poor stand. The seed should never be planted until the ground is thoroughly warm. Shallow planting will help the germination much; half as deep as for corn is a good depth. The early growth is very slow and the plants tender; hence the necessity of having the ground free from weeds at time of planting.

A great advantage of the sorghums over corn for forage is that they admit of close planting. Sorghums will admit of close drilling and produce a full grain crop, and, with thick seeding, will make excellent hay. As a hay crop a yield of two to four tons per acre is not unusual. For this the quantity of seed sown per acre should be varied somewhat to suit the conditions, but in most cases if broadcasted one bushel will be sufficient, and if drilled three pecks. Put on enough seed to make the plants small and fine; the yield will be about as much and can be handled much easier and better. The best plan is to plant thick enough to make good, fine hay without any thought of the grain.

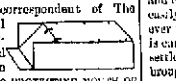
If grain is wanted, drill the rows far enough apart to admit of cultivation, so as to produce the largest yield of grain. At the experiment station we find to give the maximum yield of grain the rows should not be farther apart than 3 feet and may be as close as 2½, and the stalks should be from 4 to 6 inches apart in the row. The above applies to such a variety as red Kaffir corn, as in rich soil some of the rankest growing sorts will lodge when planted so close.

The Maple Sap Flow.

According to A. H. Wood of the New Hampshire experiment station the flow of maple sap is largely dependent upon the depth of the tapping. According to his three years' experiments the theory that all or nearly all the sap comes from the outside wood is erroneous. He makes it appear that the additional injury to the tree by deep tapping is very slight, especially if the hole is small. Where a three-eighths inch bit is used and the bark practically uninjured the majority of the holes will be grown over the first summer after tapping. The amount of flow from the north and south sides of trees was investigated, and it was found that under equal conditions the common practice of tapping on the south side of trees is to be preferred.

Protecting Tile Drains.

An Indiana correspondent of The Farm Journal gives the following illustrated description of an arrangement for protecting mouse or field mice from entering the drain. He says:



He uses two inch cross lumber, the width being governed by size of tile. Cut bottom board 3 feet 2 inches, and top 2 feet 6 inches, and sides a proper length so as to give the door, which hangs from the top, a good slant. Door must work freely. Slip box over the tile and stake down firmly.

Odd Mention.

It was told at a meeting of Illinois horticulturists that a mixture of soft soap and copperas, applied with a whitewash brush, will keep out borers. Soapsuds to which a handful of copperas is added, if poured about the base of peach trees, will kill grubs.

Iowa has come to be a great dairy state, which fact is shown not only by the large output of butter, but by the stringent laws against bogus dairy products and the effort to secure a first class article.

A Natural Mirage.

Our flag and hope, their joy and pride
America, we hail thee!
With three shall Liberty abide:
Thy sons shall never fail thee;
From north to south, from east to west,
One law, one flag, one nation;
The love that fills each patriot breast
Shall be thy firm foundation.

CHORUS.
Hosts of the free,
Let hand and voice
Sing thy inspiring story,
While, brave and bright,
Thy flag of light
Floats in the sun of glory.

The stars that from thy banner shine
Enkindle Freedom's beacon,
To all the world a sacred sign,
A flame that cannot weaken;
A flame that o'er Atlantic barrier,
That gilds the orient sea an Whenever man for Freedom yearns,
His symbol of devotion.

Republic that no hate divides,
United in affections,
A hemisphere in thy confides
And claims thy strength in protection,
And should the just occasion come,
Stand, Freemen, calm and steady;
The bugle blast, the roll of drum,
Shall find Columbia ready.

For tyrannies and kingships all
The passing bell is tolling
O nations, hear Columbia's call!
For yes the world is rolling;
Not for the rulers yet have made,
The puppets of your power,
But, freemen, strong and unafraid;
The planet is your dower.

Sublime republic unto thee
Is given a holy mission,
To lead the legions of the free
To better man's condition.
In this thy glory we rejoice
The same shall ever feel thee,
Beloved land, with heart and voice,
America, we hail thee!

The last few days, wherever snow has fallen in Salt Lake City, a white sediment has been left wherever the snow touched. There has been much speculation as to the actual cause; the local scientists have been unable now divided upon that point. There are those who insist that the sediment was taken up from the bosom of Great Salt Lake. There are others who believe the deposit is sulphate of soda, which is thrown up on the shores of Great Salt Lake during the winter by the action of the cold weather on the briny waters. Be that as it may, the houses facing north, the street car windows and every piece of glass exposed has become incrusted. Pedestrians who happened to be out in the storm did not notice anything out of the way until their clothing dried, when it was discerned that the apparel was liberally sprinkled with what appeared to be salt. The deposit is of a saline nature. That was discovered by the application of the tongue.

It is a phenomenon that frequently occurs in Salt Lake City, and especially during the winter season, but a good deal of work was necessary to remove the stains left on the windows. There has not been a snowstorm within the last ten days when the deposit of the sediment has not occurred. The savants are still guessing.—Chicago Chronicle.

A remarkable phenomenon was witnessed at Chicago the other night for which the United States signal service can offer no solution or reason. It was a dust storm which prevailed until far in the night in the midst of a snowstorm. Everything touched was besmirched with a dark brown substance, which was clearly dirt of some sort, but just what no one was able to say.

This dust storm began about 20 minutes to 7 o'clock and was at first rather violent, the wind being strong, but after an hour or so subsided somewhat. Reports from southern Wisconsin, eastern Iowa and western Indiana show that the storm also prevailed there.

In some of the places where the storm prevailed the brown dust covered the snow to the depth of an eighth of an inch.—New York Herald.

A remarkable atmospheric phenomenon occurred early the other morning over the ocean near Cape May. The frosty air there was filled for some 20 feet deep with ice crystals, the frozen evaporation of the warmer water of the sea. All the dreary, flaky characteristics of drifting snow were present. On this bank the shipping of the ailing seemed to glide in and out of the bay like figures on a mimic stage.

The sun had ascended some 30 degrees above the horizon before the novel sight disappeared by the melting of this attenuated snow bank. Seamen note such occurrences in the gulf stream, where the warm water of the ocean is evaporated and frozen near its surface on frosty mornings when the air is still.—Philadelphia Ledger.

STORIES OF THE DAY.

Remarkable Weather Phenomena Happening In These Days.

A curious phenomenon occurred at Hartford the other night, resulting from a high wind and a slight fall of moist snow on an icy surface. The wind caught the snow and rolled it up into thousands of snowballs. Hundreds of balls were whirled up and sent rolling along, gathering snow at each turn and each leaving its marked trail behind. The wide slope of land surrounding Trinity college was one field of rolling snowballs. Dr. Samuel Hart thus describes the phenomenon:

"The rotary wind flew catching the snow and rolls it up like a puff in cylindrical form. Most that I saw were about eight inches wide and eight inches in diameter, hollowed at the two ends. They are in effect isosceles triangles of snow rolled up on the vortex."

The same phenomenon occurred about 12 years ago. Some of the wind made snowballs were as large as half barrels.

Chicago was visited by a most singular meteorological phenomenon a few nights since. Black snow, yellow snow and brown snow fell in blinding clouds over the entire city, and reports from suburban towns brought the news that the variegated storm was not an exclusive Chicago production.

The chief of the weather bureau at Washington says:

"The black snow that has lately fallen in Chicago and the northwest is similar to the great fall of January, 1895, the nature of which was thoroughly investigated by the weather bureau at that time. Notwithstanding the theoretical suggestion that the black deposit on last January night have come from beyond the earth and might be meteoric or cosmic, or might even be the volcanic dust from Alaska or Japan, careful investigation showed that it was due to none of these causes.

"On the contrary, microscopic examination proved that the black deposit contained about 1 per cent of the most delicate organic structures (such as diatoms and spores) and about 95 per cent of the finest possible inorganic matter, such as makes up the ordinary fine silt and clay soils. All this fine material is easily caught up by the dry winds whenever they exceed 20 miles per hour and is carried to great distances before it settles on the ground. It is easily brought down in huge quantities by snow or rain, but is only perceived by the ordinary observer when there is a clean surface of snow for it to fall upon. Large portions of country from Nebraska southward to the gulf are covered by this fine soil, whose depth sometimes is 100 feet. A gale of wind has been known to carry away six inches of the surface soil from a freshly cultivated field and spread it over the land 100 miles away. The blackness is due to the fineness of the silt and not to any magnetic iron."—New York Sun.

WHY?

QUESTIONS WOMEN ASK

Here Answered with Good Sound Reason.

(SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.)

Because of the fact that a woman best understands a woman's ills. What man ever suffered a single pang like unto woman? Man works from theory only.

Why do tens of thousands of women write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., telling their most secret troubles?

Because they know that their letters go straight to the hands of a woman, are opened, read, and answered by a woman, who as a woman has made woman's ills a life study, and because she never fails there, and cures cases which the doctor cannot.

The lady who asks that the following letter be published, gives concisely the uniform expression of gratitude contained in thousands of other letters in Mrs. Pinkham's possession.

"For eight years I suffered with neuralgia of the womb, backache, severe pains all through my body, and kidney trouble. None of the doctors did me any good. I took twelve bottles of your Vegetable Compound, and cannot thank you enough for the relief I found.

"I am now well cured of all those pains. I should advise every woman to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound who has any female trouble. I had a friend who was to go under an operation. I advised her first to try the Compound. She did, and is now so much better and stronger she has given up all thoughts of the operation."—MRS. M. WILDE, 2437 Park St., Tioga, Pa.

SHOP AND RAIL.

The Bass Works Preparing to Test Car Axles.

Some Changes in the Freight Department of the Wabash—Office and Shop Gossip.

A tower and machinery for testing car axles will be erected by the Bass Foundry and Machine works on Virginia street, opposite the blacksmith shop, next week. The tower will be equipped with machinery for hoisting an iron which will weigh 1,600 pounds and when the piece reaches a height of forty or fifty feet it will become detached from the chain and fall to the bottom of the shaft, whereon it will strike the axles. The axle which survives this test will be considered perfect, while those bent, cracked or otherwise injured will be sent back to the shop to be hammered out anew.

CHANGES ON THE WABASH.

The official announcement of the following changes in the freight department of the Wabash road has just been made:

John D. Lund, assistant general freight agent, has been transferred from St. Louis to Kansas City, with his present title, and will have charge of all freight traffic matters west of the latter city.

Philip W. Coyle will take Mr. Lund's place at St Louis, and Walter H. Wylie will succeed Mr. Coyle as commercial freight agent at St. Louis. Mr. Coyle is a frequent visitor here and is quite well known all over the Wabash system.

MINOR NOTES.

Nickel Plate Conductor Kitselman is enjoying a few days' rest.

Al. Mercer, of the Bass blacksmith shop, has a very sick baby.

Ed. Driftmeyer is now working in the punch department at the electric works.

Frank Huxley, D. T. McFee and George Cooper, Nickel Plate conductors, have been taking a few days' rest.

J. T. Wann, auditor of the Erie Railway company, has had his jurisdiction extended to include the Chicago and Erie.

William Mosher has returned from Grand Rapids, where he was called a week ago to attend the funeral of his sister. He is employed in the electric works.

J. P. Robinson has been appointed road foreman of engines on the E & A. division of the Pennsylvania, vice Frank Ray, resigned.

Conductor and Mrs. Brumbaugh went to Chicago yesterday, to remain a week, the guest of friends. Brumbaugh, Mr. is employed on the Nickel Plate.

Charles A. Beach, superintendent of the Buffalo division of the Lehigh Valley, has resigned and Lucas Van Allen has been appointed acting superintendent of that division.

Nickel Plate engine 6 was turned out of the Stony Island shops yesterday and has gone into service on the Third district in charge of Engineer A. Dresbach and Fireman C. Hue.

A Lorain county man has sued the Cleveland, Lorain and Wheeling for $10,000 damages. When he worked in the company's shops at Lorain he claims to have got into a draught which ruined his health.

Indianapolis Journal: "For nearly ten years Patrick Finley, an engineer on the Pennsylvania, has been drawing on an average $24 per month from the Pennsylvania Voluntary Relief fund. Being unable to work on account of disability, he appreciates the Relief association."

Ex Trainmaster Gyrus Siesler has so far recovered from his recent paralytic stroke that he expects on the first of the month to take his old run on the Wabash as conductor between Toledo and Tilton. Mr. Siesler had the opportunity, a few months ago, to read his obituary, which was published on a rumor that he was dead.

The directors of the Nickel Plate on Tuesday declared a 5 per cent. dividend on its pre'erred stock.

Edward H. Witte, a Wabash employe, has been transferred from the freight house to the machine shop.

Machinist Louis Seibt, of the Bass works, is suffering with the grip and will not be able to work for a few days.

Peter J. LaBeck, of the Bass machine shop, has taken a two weeks' vacation, which he will spend in the west.

A. Sine, L. Sweeney and J. Stuart, Pittsburg engineers, who were off duty several days for various reasons, reported for work this morning.

J. E. Meyers, an employe of the Wabash shops, has gone to Springfield, Ill., to be treated by the company's specialist for inflammation of the eyes.

Samuel Wass, jr., has resigned a position at the factory of Rhinesmith & Simonson and taken one with the Haswell Chair and Manufacturing company.

Blacksmith Terrence Martin laid off today to attend the funeral of his old friend, Frederick Beulow, which occurred from Zion's Lutheran church this morning.

Dealers are receiving their stock of fishing tackle, a sure sign that spring will be upon us inside a month. A large consignment of fish poles arrived at the Wabash freight house this morning.

The case of Hector vs. the Wabash company, which was to commence in Toledo yesterday, has been continued until the next term of court and will not come up for trial until some time in September.

While the citizens of Elwood are enthused over a rumor that the Panhandle shops at Logansport are to be removed to Elwood, basing the belief on the fact that Panhandle officials are interested in property there, the company is contemplating considerably enlarging the shops at Logansport as a result of the recent visit of General Manager Lorne and General Superintendent Miller to that city.

Compressed air as a power has displaced steam in three departments of the Pullman Palace Car company's works at Pullman, Ill., and the results have so far satisfied the officials that in all probability the new force will be in use shortly in all the great shops of the corporation. The change is radical and marks a revolution in the manufacturing system of the great Pullman plant. With the air system it is claimed that the speed of the machine in use may be graded, something impossible when a belt is used.

Yesterday's Indianapolis Journal had this item: "Fort Wayne is the most important city in the northern part of the state and the conveniences for reaching it from Indianapolis by rail are by no means satisfactory. A passenger official says the Big Four and the Lake Erie and Western should run through coaches between Indianapolis and Fort Wayne at hours which would be convenient to the traveling public. The expense of such an arrangement would be light and in a short time the route would become a popular one, as the best time could be made."

The laboratory at the electric works is being fitted with apparatus for experimental purposes in sciography with the Roentgen X rays. The experiments will be made by Prof. Thomas Duncan.

Supt J. J. Wood has gotten out some improvements on his dynamos and the first machine will leave the works tomorrow for Buffalo, when its performances will be a revelation to men who are supposed to know something about dynamos. The new machine is of 100 light arc capacity.

Pittsburg engine 310, which was run into the round house at 5 o'clock this morning and left standing on the drop pit, sprang a leak at the throttle, moved through the open door and dropped down into the transfer table, between the round house and machine shop. The only damage to the engine was the bending and displacement of the driver air brakes. It was 9 o'clock when the wrecking crew got the engine back into the round house.

Mrs. Mary Dolan, of No. 48 Walton avenue, left Wednesday to visit relatives in Niles, Mich., and other points.

MAGNETISM DOES IT.

W. D. CRUMBIE'S NEW WAY OF PHOTOGRAPHING HIDDEN OBJECTS.

Magnetic Force Proved to Be the Principle—Cathode Rays Not Necessary—Astonishing Results Without the Agency of Any Light.

Since Professor Roentgen's discovery of photography by means of the cathode rays the most important results in that line of investigation have recently been obtained by William D. Crumbie, an assistant in the United States laboratory in New York.

Mr. Crumbie has lately shown that the Roentgen pictures, so called, may be obtained without the use of the tubes, and therefore without the cathode rays which were supposed to be absolutely essential to the process. The results of his experiments without light are pictures—not shadows—clear in form and outline.

He began his investigation with the assumption that the pictures were produced not by the rays, but by some influence to the magnetic field. His experiments have shown to him the truth of this theory, though he frankly admits that he is unable to define the influence which has produced such astonishing results.

At the last meeting of the New York section of the Society of Chemical Industry Mr. Crumbie's experiments, as reported by his chief, Dr. Wallace Wright, were discussed with the most profound interest. Chairman Alfred H. Mason of the New York section of the society said that Mr. Crumbie's discovery was really made in an entirely different field from that of Professor Roentgen's investigation. He predicted that if opened the way to results even more remarkable.

Mr. Crumbie's experiments began soon after the announcement of Professor Roentgen's discovery. At his home in East Orange he explained to a reporter his methods of investigation. Feeling sure that the pictures could be produced without the rays, he constructed his apparatus accordingly. The generative force at the outset was very much like that of Roentgen's.

Mr. Crumbie used two Edison-Leland phonograph batteries. The primary circuit was established from these batteries to a small inductive coil, from which secondary wires were run to two brass plates. Two coins and a key were wrapped in two folds of Bristol board and placed between two gelatin plates and the bundle thus formed was placed in an ordinary photograph holder, which was set between the metal plates. To avoid all possibility of light, the experimenter placed a photographer's cover over the apparatus.

After an exposure of 30 hours, Mr. Crumbie's work was rewarded in a most astonishing way. He found that the objects had been photographed clearly and distinctly without the use of the tubes at all. He thought at first that the result might be due to sparking against the paper, and he made experiments to see if this were so.

He used a much stronger current to see whether sparking, if it had occurred, would produce marks on the cardboard or the gelatin film. There was no evidence of any action aside from the usual development.

Then Mr. Crumbie was sure of his theory that the pictures had been produced entirely by magnetic means.

Afterward he made a picture of a Columbian half dollar on carbon paper without the use of Bristol board. The picture revealed clearly the letters and date.

Mr. Crumbie says he is not at the present time working on the line of the results to the influence of Tesla's engines in his experiments on the same. He has no will continue his present work, and his hopes of obtaining even better photographs than those recently made.—New York World.

SHOCKING TRAGEDY.

Mable Sullivan, a Music Teacher, Murdered.

PATERSON, N. J., March 6.—Mable Sullivan, 28 years of age, was murdered in this place last night. She was a music teacher, and had spent the evening with a married sister, whose house she left, unaccompanied, about 9:30 o'clock for her home. A little later she was found unconscious by the side of a fence, her head battered and her clothing torn. She died soon afterwards. No arrests have been made.

YOUTHFUL BRIDE.

Widow Aged Eighteen, Weds for the Third Time.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., March 6.—Minnie Russell, who is but 18 years of age was married today for the third time. The man she married is Louis Russell, 61 years of age, from whom she was divorced three months ago. She married a man named Higginbotham when she was 14 years of age. He died less than a year ago, leaving her with two children.

The second semi-annual Sunday school convention for all schools in Wayne township will be held in the Bethany Presbyterian church Saturday morning and afternoon. A good program has been arranged. All Sunday school workers are invited to attend these meetings.

CONVENTION PLANS IN OHIO

Probable Candidates and Delegates to be Named by Republicans.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 6.—By placing additional chairs in the Grand opera house it has been found practicable to seat the delegates to the republican state convention on the floor of the auditorium. The proposition to take the convention to the Fourteenth regiment armory has therefore been abandoned. The delegates will meet next Tuesday afternoon by congressional districts and each will select members of the usual committees. These committees will meet for their work in the evening. The convention proper will meet Wednesday morning. Senator elect Foraker will preside temporarily.

Charles Kinney, of Portsmouth, and E. W. Doty, of Cleveland, are candidates for the nomination for secretary of state. Mr. Kinney will probably get it. For supreme judge M. J. Williams, the incumbent, and John A. Price, of Bellefontaine, are candidates. Mr. Williams will probably be again chosen. For state food commissioner S. C. McNeal will probably be renominated, and Representative Frank Huffman, of Van Wert, will be named for member of the board of public works.

For delegates at large it is expected that Senator elect Foraker, Governor Bushnell, Mark A. Hanna and probably C. H. Grosvenor will be chosen.

FONDNESS FOR MATRIMONY.

Minnie Russell, of Terre Haute, Married Three Times.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., March 6.—Minnie Russell, eighteen years of age, was married yesterday for the third time. The man she married is Louis Russell, sixty-one years of age, from whom she was divorced three months ago. She married a man named Higginbotham when she was fourteen years of age. He died less than a year ago, leaving her with two children.

Miss Maude Hendricks, a teacher in the Hoagland school, was removed from her rooms yesterday to Hope hospital. Her many friends will be pained to hear that she suffers from acute muscular rheumatism.

"Nothing Venture, Nothing Have."

Rev. John Reid, jr., of Great Falls, Mont., recommended Ely's Cream Balm to me. I can emphasize this statement. "It is a positive cure for catarrh if used as directed."—Rev. Francis W. Poole, Pastor Central Pres. Church, Helena, Mont.

It is the medicine above all others for catarrh, and is worth its weight in gold. I can use Ely's Cream Balm with safety and it does all that is claimed for it.—B. W. Sperry, Hartford, Conn.

EASTER NUMBER OF FASHIONS.

OUR SPLENDID MONTHLY

"Fashions" for March is doubly welcome, as it is issued this month in a vastly enlarged and sumptuous form. It is the Easter edition of the magazine and combines the attractions of a festival and bicycle number. The cover printed in several rich colors, is both classic in design, and happily suggestive of the joyous Spring season when lilies bloom and days of fasting are over.

A Jealous Rival Starts a False Report.

For some time rumors have been current that the Brenzinger Baking company, located at No. 14 Washington boulevard, were not a permanent institution and intended, in a short time, to leave the city.

Mr. G F. Yergens, the manager for the company, desires to inform the public that this report is entirely false, and was started by a jealous rival, who, owing to the progressive methods of the Brenzinger Baking company, sees his business rapidly drifting away from him and takes this petty manner of seeking revenge.

The large building occupied by the Brenzinger company was built expressly for their use by Fisher Bros and a ten year lease given. The plant is one of the best equipped in the state for baking purposes and nothing but purely high class goods are turned out Everything pertaining to the baking line is manufactured by them and the town is thoroughly covered by a system of delivery wagons so that you can have your bread delivered fresh at your door every morning. In addition to this every first-class grocery in the city handles Brenzinger bread, cakes, etc. If your grocer does not have Brenzinger bread on sale, insist on him getting it at once, you want the best and that is to be found in the Brenzinger brand of bread.

This bakery pays special attention to the baking of cakes, pies and fancy pastry of all kinds, and are prepared to furnish parties at short notice with the most toothsome creations of the bakers art

Under the present management this company has rapidly come to the front and assumed a position head and shoulders above all competitors and are now the recognized leaders in the baking line in Fort Wayne. They have unlimited capital back of them and are prepared to stay.

Ring up telephone No. 315 and order a supply of Brenzinger bread, and you will become a permanent customer of this favorite bakery.

GRAND DISPLAY

Of Baby Carriages at James M. Kane's.

Has the Exclusive Agency for the Gendron Carriage.

Parties contemplating the purchase of a baby carriage this spring will make a serious mistake if they buy without first examining the handsome line of Gendron cabs carried by James M. Kane.

Mr. Kane has the exclusive agency of this territory for this superb make of Carriages and has in stock for this season's trade, beyond a doubt, the most complete and handsome line ever before displayed in Fort Wayne

The manufacturers of the Gendron Carriages have patented the Gendron clinch rubber tire, which will be found on their make of carriages exclusively.

You will find in Mr. Kane's line of Carriages anything you want from $3 up to $40, and he states that he is positively selling Baby Carriages this season 20 per cent. less than any other house in the city.

The only way to obtain a correct idea of the magnificence of this display is to call and inspect the stock.
